ALLIES FALL BACK, LIEGE TOTTERS

ACTION TAKEN TO SPEED UP U. S. DEFENSES

ROOSEVELT FAVORS BILLION INCREASE FOR ARMY, NAVY

Washington, May 13 (AP)—President Roosevelt acted today to speed up America's armament, working with military and fiscal officials on a request to congress for an extraordinary defense fund which reliable osurces said would probably exceed $500,000,000.

Initial reaction to the news of his intention indicated that, as a result of the total war now raging in Europe, his recommendation would have many supporters in both house and senate no matter how large it may be.

Chairman May (D-Ky) of the house military committee, who with Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the house naval group was called to confer with Mr. Roosevelt tomorrow, told reporters he favored an additional $1,000,000,000 for the army and navy combined.

Adding that he was for "anything the president asks", May declared:

"We ought to have a national defense setup or quit talking about it."

Airplane Orders Mount

Mr. Roosevelt's round of conferences today on the augmented defense program coincided with four other important developments:

1. An Allied spokesman announced that England and France had bought about $350,000,000 worth of American airplanes and airplane motors within the last four weeks.

2. The question whether the United States should grant credits to the Allies reached the house floor.

3. President Roosevelt asked congress to make $2,900,000 available immediately for the construction of seacoast defenses in Puerto Rico, and to grant the treasury an additional $12,500,000 for the purchase of strategic and critical defense materials in the next fiscal year.

4. The war department estimated that 310,000 officers and men of the regular army, national guard and reserve corps would be under arms during August maneuvers. Officials said this would be a record number for peace-time training.

No Neutrality Modification

Loans to the French, English and Belgian governments are now forbidden by the Johnson act, which outlaws advances to debt-defaulting nations, and credits to all of the beligerent governments are barred by the neutrality act.

Rep. Bulwinkle (D-NC) introduced legislation to permit the Allied governments to buy on

Third Termers Say War Simplifies Their Setup

BY RICHARD L. TURNER

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The increased acuteness of the European crisis was regarded by some politicians today as having simplified the principal problem of the third-term supporters — that of convincing Mr. Roosevelt he should run again.

So far as can be seen now, they have arranged things so that he can have the Democratic nomination without serious opposition, but there has been no word from Mr. Roosevelt as to whether he would accept.

The president has made clear his own view that the Nazi invasion of Holland and Belgium has intensified a situation which could in the end prove harmful to the United States. He did so in his address Friday night to the Eighth American Scientific Congress.

The third termers are expected to point to the seriousness of the situation as an argument why the president should run. In turn, Republicans and other anti-Roosevelt men are preparing to argue just the reverse—that world conditions call for a new hand at the helm.

Considering the effect of war development on domestic politics, Washington also was watching the unfolding pre-convention campaign.

Ohio tomorrow will hold its regular presidential primary, with the result known in advance. A Republican delegation of 52 will be elected pledged to Senator Taft (R-O) who has no opposition in the election. At the same time, the Democratic delegation will be instructed for Charles Sawyer, state Democratic leader, who is ready at any time to turn his delegates over to the third term movement.

West Virginia also will vote tomorrow, with no major entrants in its presidential primaries. The delegations to both conventions will be uninstructed with both Taft supporters and the backers of Thomas E. Dewey claiming portions of the Republican group, and the third termers claiming the Democratic delegation.

Only today, the third term movement obtained a powerful ally. Mayor LaGuardia of New York, addressing a convention of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers (CIO) announced that "if Franklin Roosevelt runs (for a third term) I am going to vote for him."

SEVERE WINTER AFFECTS CROPS

Michigan Farmers Feel Results of Dry, Cold Spring

Lansing, May 13 (AP)—The state-federal crop reporting service said today Michigan farmers have suffered losses due to a severe winter and late spring.

The winter crop will be an outstanding exception, the service said, reporting that only 12,000 acres would be abandoned because of winter injury, the smallest abandonment "in many years."

Verne H. Church, senior statistician, estimated 764,000 acres would be harvested, 44,000 acres more than a year ago. He said he looked for a yield of 20.5 bushers an acre, compared with 21 last year.

He estimated rye production at 1,144,000 bushels, the smallest in 50 years. Church said that of 152,000 acres sown last fall, only 88,000 would be harvested for grain.

The statistician said cold weather and insufficient moisture had brought prospects for hay and pasturage to a point below normal. He declared fruit crops also would be smaller.

Ore Boats Collide Off Chicago Harbor

Chicago, May 13 (AP)—Two ore freighters collided tonight off the south Chicago breakwater, but none of the crew was injured.

The Adam E. Cornelius, operated by Boland and Cornelius, Buffalo, N. Y., received a 10-foot gash above the water line, where it was struck by the bow of the Youngstown, operated by Pickands and Mather of Cleveland, O.

Luxembourg Ruler Arrives In Paris

Paris, May 14 (Tuesday) (AP)—The Grand Duchess Charlotte, ruler of German-invaded Luxembourg, accompanied by the prince consort and their children, arrived in Paris late last night. The party is staying incognito at a large hotel in the center of the city.

SWEDEN READY FOR EMERGENCY

German Troops Gathering In Southern Norway, Report Says

BY ELMER W. PETERSON

Stockholm, May 13, (AP)—With Sweden calmly preparing for any emergency, neutral military observers tonight heard reports of extensive German troop concentrations in southern Norway and of increased troop transport movements through Germany's Kiel Canal.

Some reports said that Kongsvinger, a strategic point about 50 miles northeast of Oslo and 20 miles west of the Swedish border, is becoming a military center, with more than 100,000 men assembled in this area.

Rumors of ship and troop transport movements in the Kiel Canal, connecting the North and Baltic seas, increased during the day but could not be confirmed.

There was a widespread belief that the status quo of the Baltic area has a good chance of being maintained.

The situation at Narvik was reported unchanged but the Norwegian telegraph agency reported from "somewhere in Norway" that a German attempt to land troops to help the garrison at Narvik failed when several transport ships were sunk.

DUTCH QUEEN TAKES FLIGHT INTO ENGLAND

KIDNAPING HINTED; TRAITORS AROUSE HOLLANDER IRE

BY MAX HARRELSON

Amsterdam, May 13 (AP)—Outflanked from the north and from the south, with their famous Grebbe water defence line pierced and with Rotterdam threatened by German motor columns but 15 miles away, the Dutch tonight vacated the Hague as a seat of government and sent their queen to safety in England.

The Dutch high command acknowledged in a communique tonight that the Germans had succeeded in taking "a small sector of the Grebbe line," their main water defense system running south of the Zuider Zee to the Rhine, and that although Netherlands troops by fierce fighting had retaken the sector they could not hold it when the Germans launched fresh attacks.

Parachute Troops Aided

(The Germans have reported penetrating this line between Amersfoort and Rhenen, about 35 miles east of Amsterdam.)

To the south, the high command acknowledged that Germans with motorized equipment had raced through the Langstraat (south of the Maas river) and had reached and passed the Moerdijk bridge which crosses the Hollandsch Diep but 15 miles south of Rotterdam.

In Rotterdam itself, German parachute and transport-landed troops were admitted still to be holding out "stubbornly."

(The Germans today said "contact" had been established with this Rotterdam force.)

Moreover, the Germans were acknowledged to be in possession of most of the northeast provinces and to have reached the east coast of the Zuider Zee, that great tongue of the North Sea which has turned partly to fresh water because of Dutch dykes.

Dam Threatened

From there, the Germans threatened the huge dam at the mouth of the Zuider Zee, for a march south on Amsterdam. The dam, however, is strongly defended.

The radio station at Helversum announced the decision to transfer the government to an undisclosed place.

The 59-year-old Netherlands monarch fled to Great Britain aboard a British warship several hours after her daughter, Crown Princess Juliana, and Juliana's two babies reached a haven in London. It was reported in London that fear of a "fifth column" attempt to kidnap the royal family prompted the flight from the war-ridden country.

(In London, a statement issued by the Dutch legation said German planes had started bombing Queen Wilhelmina's residence before she was persuaded to go to London. It added that the Germans also were trying to capture the queen.)

Invaders Spread Out

A proclamation broadcast by the commander-in-chief of the Dutch forces from Hilversum announced the transfer of the seat of the government in order to maintain its complete freedom of action.

The Dutch, their ire aroused by the activities of traitors within their defense lines, arrested 300 persons today in a "fifth column" mop up in Amsterdam. That brought to 900 the total of sus-

Veterans' Widows Pensions Approved

Washington, May 13 (AP)—The house voted today to pay a pension to all dependent widows, children and parents of dead World war veterans, no matter what the cause of death might be.

The vote was an overwhelming 247 to 31 but the legislators did not go on record individually on the measure which one opponent, Rep. Costello (D-Calif.), said would cost "a cold billion dollars a year" by 1968.

Rep. Rankin (D-Miss.), sponsor of the legislation, asked for "the yeas and nays"—a rollcall vote—when the debate was concluded but other members throughout the chamber shouted "No, No," and the passage was based only on a standing vote. The measure now goes to the senate.

For the dependents of all veterans who served 90 days or more during the World war, the bill would provide a pension of $12 a month for an orphan, $20 for a parent or childless widow and up to $56 for widows and children. The test of dependency would be that usually applied by the veterans administration—whether the applicant has less than $50 a month income.

Prison Industries Underbid; Riley Is Accused Of Tipoff

Lansing, May 13 (AP)—William Burke, superintendent of prison industries, reopened an old controversy today, accusing the state purchasing deparment of discriminating against his division by tipping off his bids to private vendors.

Robert J. Riley, state purchasing director, retorted with a demand that Burke either substantiate his statements or retract them. He criticized Burke's administrative policies, and declared he would "make an issue of it."

Burke told the state corrections commission he was convinced that on at least three occasions two brokers received price tips that permitted them to underbid prison industries for contracts on the sale of clothing. He added that the materials supplied by the brokers were of inferior quality and did not meet specifications.

Said Riley in reply: "I don't know how he figures it, but it seems to me that prison industries using prison labor at 25 cents a day should be able to meet the competition of free labor.

Marquette Needs Work

"I'm thinking of a recent contract for some caps in which Burke's bid was $4.50 a dozen. I told him it was too high, so he cut it to $3. I can't see how the price could be cut that sharply if the first bid was legitimate.

"If there have been any tips to private brokers out of this office, I don't know about it."

Auditor General Vernon J. Brown declared cautiously that he would "look into this," and the corrections commission said it also would investigate.

The commission voted to set up a uniform wage scale for convicts in the prisons, ranging from 10 to 25 cents a day. Corrections Director Edward G. Heckel said the new plan would make certain that the inmates of one prison received the same pay as those in other penal institutions for similar types of work.

He recommended the installation of a woolen mill at the Marquette branch prison to relieve what he said is an "acute labor situation." Heckel said only 50 of 750 inmates of the prison are regularly employed.

DETROIT'S TOOL TRADE BOOMING

Factories Expanding to Fill Foreign Orders for Machines

Detroit, May 13 (AP)—Foreign government orders for lathes, boring machines and other tools to work hard metals in the manufacture of implements of war are fast booming Detroit into a leading position in the machine-tool industry.

"We're going the limit, night and day," an official of one machine-tool plant here said today and reports of factory expansion and increased personnel came from similar sources throughout the city.

One plant reported a floor expansion of 114 percent in recent months and a 66 percent increase in employes.

Manufacturers indicated the belief that if the present trend continues the Detroit and southern Michigan area, including Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Saginaw and other centers soon will rank with Cincinnati, Rockford, Ill., and New England in machine-tool production.

The heaviest demand is coming from Great Britain and France but Russia and Japan also rank among the best customers.

Freighters Collide In Whitefish Bay

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., May 13 (AP)—The Canadian Pacific steamship Assiniboia and the freighter Wahcondah were damaged slightly when they collided early today in fog at Whitefish bay. No one aboard either vessel was injured.

The Assiniboia, flagship of the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes fleet, was bound for the lakehead while the freighter, owned by the Abitibi Pulp and Paper company, was downbound.

Chassell Resident Killed By Flatcar

Marquette, Mich., May 13 (AP)—William Arthur Saari, 43, box 505, Chassell, was instantly killed tonight when struck by a railroad flat car loaded with wood in the lower yard. Saari is believed to have been sitting beside the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic track, which also serves as a Lake Superior and Ishpeming railroad company transfer track, when struck in the head by the sill step of the flat car.

Evades Capture

MINISTERS RAP DOCTOR ELLIOTT

State Educational Head Declines Comment On Teacher Drinking

Lansing, May 13 (AP)—Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, declined to comment today upon a ministerial group's demands that he resign because of his published statements on drinking by teachers of temperance.

Governor Dickinson expressed the belief that temperance teachers should be tee-totallers, required to submit to an oath of abstinence as all public school teachers in Michigan must take an oath of allegiance to the flag.

Elliott said in reply that community opinion and the authority of local school officials alone were sufficient to insure against any teacher's drinking to excess. He opposed the oath plan, and added that the public schools were expected to teach temperance rather than abstinence.

The Grand Traverse Baptist Ministerial association of Kingsley adopted a resolution seeking his resignation last week. Elliott himself was attending a conference in Washington, but Dickinson rose to defend him in his absence.

Elliott said today that a revision of the temperance instruction course which began after the governor's early comment would continue, but he explained that it was hampered by a lack of money. The legislature, he said, "gave me wide authority, but no funds" to carry on the work.

Envoy To Denmark Declares Hitler Is Menace To America

Wisconsin Raipds, Wis., May 13, (AP)—Alvin Mansfield Owsley, United States minister to Denmark, declared here today that "the obligation of America is to become so strong that this mad dog of Europe would not dare to lay his hands against the sovereignty of the U. S."

If Hitler wins the war, Owsley said, "he will dominate the seas, dictate the sea lanes, dictate the ports of Europe, dictate the amount of business this nation will do with Europe." He spoke at the annual conference of Wisconsin and Upper Peninsula Rotarians.

A wave of Central and South American revolutions would follow a German victory, the minister predicted. "There would be a succession of new governments there, Nazi in character."

"Canada also would be dominated by Germany," he said. "You want to live next door then, to a Canada that lies north of 3,000 miles of unfortified border? If Germany wins, you might as well get ready to defend that 3,000 miles."

Thomson Quits Job As State Chairman To Run for Office

Lansing, May 13, (AP)—James F. Thomson declared today he would resign as Republican state chairman Thursday, and coupled the statement with an announcement of his candidacy for his party's nomination for lieutenant governor.

Republican spokesmen said Leslie B. Butler, secretary to Governor Dickinson, would be an outstanding candidate for the chairmanship.

Thomson, who was elected chairman three years ago as a little-known middle-of-the-roader, has been in conflict with Republican elective officials recently. They circulated a round robin letter accusing him of having used his position to further his own political ambitions at their expense, but changed their minds later and did not make the letter public.

Convention Picks Successor

In a letter to Dickinson Thomson announced his decision to submit his resignation to the state convention in Grand Rapids Thursday. He added orally that he expected the convention to pick his successor, but that he would exert no influence in behalf of anybody.

"I am enclosing herewith a copy of my resignation as chairman of the Republican state central committee, which I shall submit to the state convention in Grand Rapids Thursday," he wrote the governor, adding that the resignation would be effective June 1.

"Three years ago when I accepted the responsibility of party leadership we were entirely out of power in Michigan, a traditionally Republican state. So it is with some degree of satisfaction that I pass on to my successor, whoever he may be, the moral support of a state administration personnel selected by our party in the last three elections.

"While my friends, as you know, have urged me to enter the primaries as a candidate for the office of governor, I have reached the conclusion that, today, you are the strongest possible candidate to succeed yourself. x x x Assuming that you will see fit to become a candidate for governor in the primaries, I have decided to enter the primary campaign as a candidate for lieutenant governor."

Was Compromise Candidate

He praised Dickinson's record as a public official.

The Republican convention three years ago chose Thomson as chairman to halt a growing fight between the forces of Frank D. McKay and Edward N. Barnard on the one hand, and Republicans who composed an anti-McKay faction on the other. Thomson never was identified with either side, and they turned to him as a compromise.

The chairman's resignation and statement of candidacy had been expected. Last winter a movement was under way to install Butler in the chairmanship a rumor became current that Thomson would resign and run for governor.

Escanaba's Water Supply To Be Off 3 Hours Tonight

The entire Escanaba city water supply will be shut off at 10 o'clock tonight for about three hours because some autoist ruined a fire plug near the waterworks at the junction of First avenue south and Lake Shore Drive.

The plug is an old style device installed years ago and has no cut-off valve in the main. It is at the end of a short pipe leading off the main water service line from the plant. To work with it means that the whole water supply must be cut off.

The plug will be removed. Another plug across the street will take care of fire needs, Sidney Shank, water department superintendent said.

George Hebert, plant employe, saw a car leaving the yacht harbor area crash into the plug, he reported. The car backed up and pulled away on its own power, despite the fact that the crash moved the reinforced plug a distance of 18 inches. Seven feet underground where the water plug pipe joins the water mais, there was a crack in the connection which caused seepage last night.

If the leak becomes bad, it may be necessary to shut the water off earlier, Mr. Shank said.

Police last night were searching for the driver who struck the plug.

MEN MASSED FOR GIGANTIC LAND BATTLE

NETHERLANDS CUT IN TWO BY NAZI WAR HORDES

By The Associated Press

Germany's hard-driving armies plunged one hand deep toward the vitals of the Netherlands and the other into the heart of the Belgian defense last night while pushing the men of the two low countries and their British-French allies back along the far-flung battle front from the Zuyder Zee to France.

But the allies, pledged to "victory at all costs," were massing their men in anticipation of a gigantic battle for which the present mighty conflict is only a preliminary skirmishing.

The Dutch removed their government from The Hague to an unidentified place as the high command gravely reported that the Germans had broken through part of their main defense line and also passed Moerdijk bridge across Hollandsch Diep on the sea coast about 15 miles south of embattled Rotterdam.

Big Cities In Danger

The Nazis reported this thrust had made contact with the parachute troops previously dropped around Rotterdam and had outflanked the "so-called" Netherlands fortification system.

Such a move, almost cutting the Netherlands in two, endangers also the great cities of Amsterdam and The Hague, in the territory for whose protection the entire Dutch defensive strategy was organized.

The Germans already are admittedly established in the northern Netherlands provinces, which the Dutch did not seriously attempt to defend.

Adolf Hitler's exultant legions also reported they had seized the "citadel" of Liege, on the northern edge of that great fortified Belgian city, although they acknowledged that other forts of the defenders still were putting up a fight.

A French military spokesman said the Germans had taken only one Liege fort, Eben Emael, 15 miles north of the city, which fell Saturday.

French Counter-Attack

The British, French, Belgian and Dutch, however, admitted they were gradually giving ground all along the line except west of Liege. The French said the heaviest of fighting was in the Belgian Ardennes mountains, where 1,500 to 2,000 tanks supported a big infantry drive against allied communications.

The French reported they had made a slashing counter-attack 20 miles northwest of Liege, however, which cost the Germans many men and the Belgians also reported a tank-supported counter-attack which regained a German-seized village.

The withdrawals are not to be regarded as a "retreat," said a French spokesman.

Instead, he said, the allies have erected a "wall on which the great battle will be fought."

Location and nature of such a "wall" were not disclosed.

Queen Wilhelmina and the royal family of The Netherlands fled to England amid reports that, had they stayed in their homeland, a "fifth column" of secret agents planned a kidnaping attempt.

House Backs Churchill

Winston Churchill, Britain's new prime minister, won a unanimous vote of confidence in the house of commons as he called out for "victory at all costs—victory in spite of all terrors," and promised "to wage war by land, sea and air—war with all our might and all the strength God can give us."

The air ministry gave emphasis to his words, announcing that 40 more German planes had been destroyed yesterday "at very small cost," and boosting to 135 the toll of German planes taken by the British alone since Germany invaded the low countries Friday.

The French put the three and a half day total of destroyed planes in France and the lowlands at 400 or more.

The Germans put their Sunday plane losses at 31, and Monday's at "hardly more than 30," and said they destroyed 328 allied planes Sunday and more than 100 Monday to push their tabulation past the 800-mark.

DNB, official German news agency, said German air exploits Monday included sinking "several warships and transports" in a raid on a British landing party.

Revenge Threatened

The quarrel over the German air corps' use of daredevil parachute troops in mass drops behind the lines drew a French order that they be shot summarily if not clearly identified by uniforms as combatants.

For every such case, 10 allied soldiers will be killed, the Germans thundered in rebuttal, insisting that their men were clearly uniformed in clothing adapted to their duties.

Under international law, combatants must be in uniform, but the German parachutists' coverall suits are something new in the way of military outfits.

France reported the Rhine front comparatively quiet after three days of heavy attacks on the Maginot line, but Swiss reports credited the French with partial destruction of a vital railway tunnel leading to Germany's Siegfried line and under the German "Gibraltar of the Rhine," near the Swiss border.

The Swiss anxiously manned their own defense lines for fear the Germans might try to push into France around that flank. A German smash through Geneva, said foreign military observers, might bring the Germans out into France's Rhone valley and into a good spot to persuade their Italian friends to leap into the fray.

Italy Powder Keg

Italy still sits on the sidelines. The Italian anti-British campaign proceeded last night, however, with numerous "incidents" among civilians. Large numbers of Dutch citizens were reported leaving Italy.

Not sure as to Italy's intentions, Yugoslavia put 700,000 men on military duty and guarded frontier and seashore alike.

Even Egypt, where the allies have concentrated ships and men, got ready for any emergency by removing people from border desert villages, while a desert sandstorm slapped at the ships in Alexandria roadstead.

Watching the European war scene, President Roosevelt was reported planning to ask the United States congress for additional defense appropriations, possibly $500,000,000 on top of the $2,000,000,000 already pending for the next fiscal year.

The United States decided to turn down an Argentine proposition that the American nations take up a "non-belligerent" attitude toward the European war instead of the present neutrality but gave the Belgian and Netherlands governments license to withdraw their own funds in this country.

Secretary of State Cordell Hull declared last night that the United States has no choice but to extend its armaments program as the world is menaced with "a new descent into the conditions of international anarchy which characterized the dark ages."

BY LYNN HEINZERLING

Berlin, May 13 (AP)—Adolf Hitler's legions hoisted their swastika flag today over the citadel on the northern edge of fortress-ringed Liege and broke into the Belgian city, the German high command reported, in their crushing advance through the low countries.

German troops are still fighting with the Belgians for some of the outer forts of Liege, but others continued westward of the stronghold and to the north while in the Netherlands the Nazi announced occupation of fully half the country.

A deeply penetrating thrust of armored forces in the Netherlands, the high command said, established contact with troops landed by parachutes around Rotterdam. DNB, official German news agency, declared that as a result "the so-called Holland fortification system has been flanked."

Thousands Captured

Hundreds of thousands of German troops were sweeping west and southwest through the little kingdoms toward what loomed as perhaps the bloodiest mass battle in history. British and French forces sped to the aid of embattled Dutch and Belgians.

DNB said one German force in the Netherlands captured about 18,000 Dutch soldiers; a Dutch general and his staff were taken.

While Hitler's army was driving for the heart of the lowlands with speedy armored cars leading the way on the ground, a tremendous fight went on for supremacy in the air.

The high command reported 320 enemy planes were destroyed yesterday and more than 50 this morning alone. (According to an official French compilation, the Germans lost 400 planes up to Monday noon.)

DNB in a later summary of the war situation said that air attacks to an "hitherto unknown extent" characterized Monday's fighting and that more than 100 enemy planes were shot down by early afternoon. The agency placed German losses at hardly more than 30 planes.

Warning to France

French and Belgian troop concentrations in Belgium were attacked and the enemy suffered "heavy loss," DNB added. The agency also said that several "warships and transports were hit and set afire" and "sunk" in air attacks on British landing operations on the Dutch and Belgian coasts.

Germany warned France that German parachute troops would be treated as soldiers, not spies, and announced for every parachute trooper shot by France in violation of international law she would shoot ten captured French soldiers.

This was a specific warning to France, in a denial of a French allegation yesterday that the parachutists wore foreign uniforms or civilian clothes.

The first contact of German troops with French forces on Belgian soil, according to Berlin information, is expected to come south of Liege, where the French were reported moving up west of the Ourthe river.

Berlin Escapes Bombs

On the westwall-Maginot line front the high command reported German positions had been moved forward south and southeast of Zweibrucken, opposite the northern boundary of the French province of Lorraine, in an action in which DNB reported the Germans captured 600 Frenchmen.

This raised the possibility of a frontal attack on the Maginot line at a place where the Germans would not have the additional handicap of a Rhine crossing, although it might have been a feint to keep enemy forces diverted from other sectors.

In other fields these developments were reported:

DNB said German mountain troops took 300 prisoners, mostly English, in a successful fight at Mo, north of Trondheim, Norway.

Claimed victories at sea included the sinking of a British cruiser by air bombs off the Netherlands coast, damaging of another cruiser, sinking of four transports and a destroyer, and scoring hits on seven supply ships.

Germany's air losses yesterday were placed at 31 planes.

An authorized source said the military damage to German territory from enemy bombs was slight and there was no sign of air fighting in Berlin.

(By The Associated Press)

Paris, May 13—Allied advance motorized columns poured their fire into "massive" German attacks in The Netherlands and Belgium today but gave ground all along the line except west of Liege, Belgium, where the French counter-attacked with tanks.

A French war ministry spokesman emphasized that while French, British, Dutch and Belgians were retiring slowly in the face of savage onslaughts by German motorized corps and "tremendous" blasting attacks from the air, the withdrawal was in accordance with strategic plan and could not be considered a retreat.

The heaviest fighting, the French reported, occurred in the Belgian Ardennes mountains, north of France, where the Germans threw several divisions of infantry and between 1,500 and 2,000 tanks into a smashing blow in an effort to sever allied communications.

"It's the big push," said one official commentator, but "we've erected the wall against it."

On this wall, he said, "the great battle will be fought."

The Germans were "able to advance," said the nightly French communique of this sector.

"Our Cavalry units, after having fulfilled their mission to retard the enemy, fell back on the Meuse which was reached by the enemy on a part of its course.

The Meuse (Maas) river swings southwestward, south of Liege, and after passing thorugh Namur and Dniant, enters French territory at Givet, some 45 miles west of the Luxembourg broder.

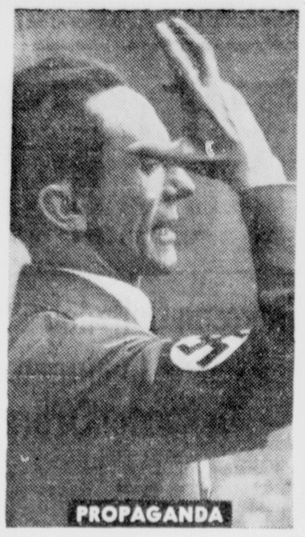
The Germans were reported waging violent battle for possession of Longwy, French town at the junction of the French, Luxembourg and Belgian borders. The French still held the town.

The battleline along Luxembourg was described as partly in French, partly in Luxembourg territory.

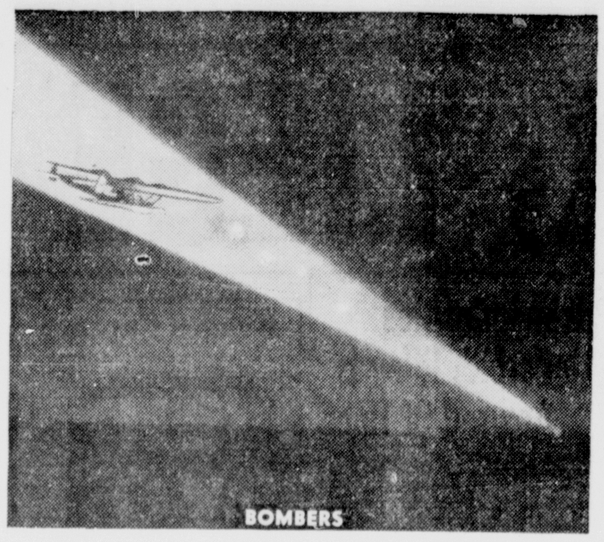
Farther north official spokesmen of the war ministry declared the Germans had taken but one of the Liege forts, that at Eben Emael, 15 miles north of the famous fortified center which stemmed the German advance 12 days in 1914.

(The Germans said the Swastika had waved over the Liege "citadel" since morning.)

BLITZKRIEG MEANS LIGHTNING THAT STRIKES IN THE NIGHT

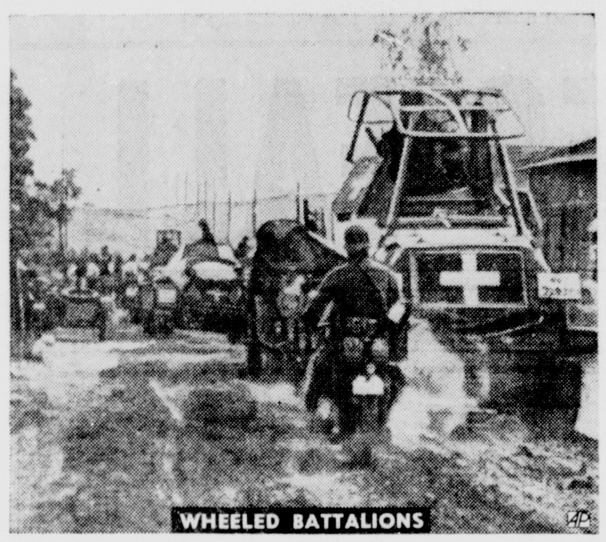


Germany's invasions follow much the same pattern. Propagandists headed by Propaganda Minister Goebbels (above) help prepare for them, assert they were brought on by threats to German interests.



Zero hour, between midnight and dawn, brings out swarms of bombers, which try to paralyze opposition by striking at communication lines. A major objective during the first hours of the invasion of Holland was the Rotterdam airport. Usually the defense has been weakened by activities of Nazi agents or sympathizers. Excuse for action against lowlands was that the Allies had planned to attack Germany through them.

Advance agents of army drop from skies to take strategic points—or are landed in transport planes if airports have been won. Dutch charged that sky soldiers wore Dutch army uniforms.



Timed with traditional German precision, land forces strike in motorized columns. These roar ahead swiftly to catch defenders by surprise, to reinforce the advance agents, and to mop up opposition. While Nazi air soldiers were battling far in the interior of Holland, the land forces tried to clear a way to them by striking across the border at various points. To be successful, these forces have to break through fortified lines.

Anarchist Dies

EMMA GOLDMAN

Toronto, May 14, (Tuesday), (AP)—Emma Goldman, internationally-known anarchist, died early today at her home here after an illness of several months.

Miss Goldman, who would have been 71 years old next June 27, suffered a stroke last February and spent several months in a hospital. Until recently, she had appeared to be improving in health, however.

Present at the time of death were a brother, Dr. Maurice Goldman, and a sister, Mrs. Stella Ballantine, both of New York.

Another sister, Mrs. Lena Cummings of Rochester, N. Y., also survives.

East Lansing Asks Court Backing For Drinking House Ban

East Lansing, May 13, (AP)—Robert H. Gillam, of East Lansing, asked the Ingham county circuit court today to uphold the validity of a city charter amendment forbidding the operation of drinking houses.

The attorney general staff held recently that the "dry" provision in the college city's charter was invalid, although it had been on the books for many years.

Gillam's petition for a declaration of rights mentioned that officials of Michigan State college, which has an enrollment of 6,500 pupils, have opposed any relaxation of the liquor ban.

The state liquor commission recently announced that it would license no drinking places in East Lansing without the consent of the city council. A majority of the council members said they never would give such consent.

HOCKEY PLAYER MOVES

Houghton — Local hockey fans regretted to learn of the departure from Calumet this week of Johnny Whittaker, Calumet-Laurium Chevs hockey star, who has left for Sault Ste. Marie where he has accepted a position. He is expected to join the Sault Indians hockey team next winter and hockey interests in that district are reported to have secured the position for Whittaker. He is employed by the White Construction Co. in that city.

Whittaker has been unemployed since the hockey season ended and has indicated he might be willing to return to Calumet this summer if a position can be procured for him here.

Incinerator Blaze Evicts Fifty From Detroit Apartment

Detroit, May 13, (AP)—Fire tonight drove more than 50 persons from a four-story apartment building on West Grand Boulevard. Firemen said the fire apparently originated in an incinerator at the bottom of a chute used for rubbish and that the flames had swept up through the chute.

The building contained 27 apartments. Helen Scott, 24, was carried down a ladder by firemen when trapped by smoke. Mrs. Hannah M. Froslid, 72, an invalid, was carried out by relatives. All other occupants were able to make their own way out of the building.

Mrs. Marie Neumann, manager of the apartments, said all floors of the building were damaged by fire and water but no estimate of the amount of damage was available.

credit in this country anything they might want except "arms, ammunition and implements of war." His proposal would alter portions of both the neutrality law and the Johnson act.

But Rep. Fish (R-NY) told the house that, "instead of weakening the Johnson act, the congress should stop the loopholes whereby loans and credits may be extended to foreign nations by our governmental agencies."

Secretary Morgenthau told reporters, meanwhile, that neither he nor anyone else at the treasury was thinking or doing anything about proposals to modify the Johnson act. He added that he could not recall the Allied purchasing mission, with which he has had frequent contact, ever suggesting loans.

As to a question whether the president's forthcoming request for increased army and navy outlays would require that congress increase the present legal limit on the public debt, Morgenthau said it was a little early to talk about that.

The federal debt, now $42,735,988,508, is scheduled by the president's budget to reach its $45,000,000,000 limit some time in the next fiscal year without the additional expenditures contemplated in the message the president will send to congress this week.

An offer to introduce legislation to raise the debt limit, "if you fellows (Democrats) are afraid to do it before an election", was made during the day by Rep. Wolcott (R-Mich), a member of the house banking committee.

"Why not be honest?" he asked at a committee hearing. "The debt limit has got to be raised."

Washington, May 13, (AP)—Secretary of State Hull said tonight that the world is menaced with "a new descent into the conditions of international anarchy which characterized the dark ages" and that the United States has no choice but to expand its armaments program.

He appealed, however, to those who believe in "international morality" to "hold fast to the conviction that law and morality will triumph over the forces of lawlessness and chaos."

Armed Force Denounced

Speaking before the American Society of International Law, the secretary denounced nations using force to achieve their ends. He mentioned no names, but officials close to him indicated he had Germany, and possibly Soviet Russia, in mind when he said:

"There has been a staggering multiplication of instances in which solemn contractual obligations have been brushed aside with contemptuous gestures and destructive action. Powerful nations have built up vast armaments for the avowed purpose of attaining their national aims by force; and their action has compelled other nations—even those most sincerely devoted to the cause of peace under a rule of law, including our own—to increase to immense proportions their own armaments."

Officials said he was referring to German "fifth column" activities, parachutists and subterfuges when he added: "Peaceful nations have been deprived of their independence by the use of armed force or threat of force, combined with the exercise of fraud and treachery. Conquered populations have been subjected to new refinements of oppression an dcruelty."

U. S. Has No Choice

Hull summed up his views as to the present situation of the world by saying:

"The specter of a new descent into the conditions of international anarchy which characterized the dark ages looks on the horizon today. I am profoundly convinced that it menaces the civilized existence of mankind—of every nation and of every individual. Every nation and every individual should be actively on guard."

Consequently, he said, "we have no choice but to expand our program of armament construction to a degree necessary to provide fully adequate means of defending this country's security and its rightful interests."

But he added that, "if mankind is to avoid a lnog-continuing period of chaos and retrogression, it can only be through the firm establishment of order under law Never before has there been a greater need for our people to place the support of a wholly united public opinion behind our nation's efforts to exert the great weight of its moral influence in favor of a revindication and revitalization of the basic principles of order under law, which alone can give lasting assurance of safety, security and peace."

DUTCH QUEEN TAKES FLIGHT INTO ENGLAND

pected persons arrested since the war began for Holland four days ago.

Although Amsterdam was quiet tonight, truck loads of military police and soldiers rode through the streets with rifles ready to fire.

The Germans were spread along the outer fringe of Dutch provinces from the coast on the northeast to the Belgian frontier in the south like a great hand ready to crush a shell.

Holland's high command asknowledged that the Germans were driving through the border tier of provinces — Groningen, Drente, Overijsel and Gelderland.

It admitted they had speared into the interior in north Brabant province and reached the North Sea coast and the Ijsselmeer (Zuider Zee) at some points on the eastern shore on a drive through Friesland province.

Water Line Tested

(The German high command declared that Nazi forces had occupied all of Groningen province and had spread everywhere on the east shore of the Ijsselmeer.)

But the Dutch said they had retreated within their defense positions according to plan and with small losses. They said they had fought merely a retarding action in the northern provinces, where there are no defense lines.

At some places in western Gelderland province, Nazi forces have penetrated to Dutch positions protected by inundations, the high command announced.

This indicated that fighting had begun along the Grebbe water line—the first main water defense for the so-called stronghold of Holland, the most populous area in which are Amsterdam, the Hague and Rotterdam.

Grebbe line extends south from the Ijsselmeer to the big rivers which cut east and west through the middle of Holland. Backed up by many fortifications, it forms the Dutch bulwark east of the main inundation defenses through Utrecht province.

Small detachments of Germans still held out in the southern part of Roterdam, but the Dutch dominated most of the port city which the Nazis tried to seize at the outset of their invasion four days ago by dropping parachute troops.

Waalhaven airport near Rotterdam admittedly still is in German hands but the Dutch said it was under artillery bombardment and air attack by British planes.

The Germans, meanwhile, continued harrassing scattered communities with air bombardments, parachute soldiers and the activities of saboteurs.

Convict In Detroit Fatal Holdup Freed After 5-Year Term

Lansing, May 13 (AP)—Steve Nagy, who gave state's evidence against three accomplices in a $5,000 Detroit factory holdup in which Louis P. Smith, payroll guard, was shot and killed, received a parole from the Ionia reformatory today.

He was liberated exactly five years after he was convicted of murder and sentenced to a life term. The sentence was commuted April 20, 1938, to a minimum of seven years, five months and 16 days.

Nagy confessed that as an employe of the Scotten-Dillon Tobacco Co., he gave the signal for three confederates to rush into the plant to stage the holdup in which Smith was killed.

The parole board said that because of a fear his accomplices would take revenge for the testimony he gave at their trials, Nagy was confined first in the Detroit house of correction and later at Ionia while the other three were kept at the state prison of Southern Michigan. They are Andrew Leko, Jesse Fabian and Walter Gliba, serving life terms.

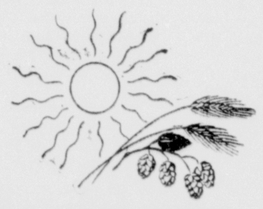
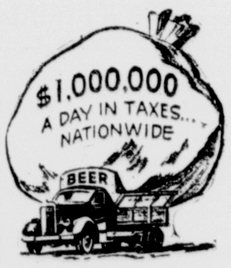
INTERESTING FACTS ABOUT BEER AND BREWING



THIS IS WHAT BEER IS MADE OF . . . Sunshine, water, malted grain—and hops for flavor. Converted into beer by a simple natural process. Mother Nature brews beer—that is why it is so wholesome.

PROVIDED BY U. S. FARMERS—25 BILLION POUNDS OF FARM PRODUCTS NEEDED BY BEER AND ALE. Since re-legalization, the brewing industry has bought this enormous quantity of produce from American farmers.



BEER AND ALE CONTRIBUTE $1,000,000 A DAY IN TAXES TO LOCAL, STATE, AND FEDERAL GOVERNMENTS. Or $400,000,000 a year! What would happen if there were no beer or ale to carry this enormous tax burden?

"THANKS FOR THE JOB!"... say 1,000,000 people put to work by beer and ale since their return. More than 100 other industries benefit from the making and sale of beer and ale.

BEER CAME OVER ON THE MAYFLOWER—Pilgrim records tell how the landing of the Mayflower was hastened because the Pilgrims ran short of supplies, "especially beer."

CITY PROVIDES FUND FOR RENT

$1,009 to Stave Off Eviction for 142 Relief Clients

A fund of $1,009 to pay March rent bills for 142 direct relief clients in the city was voted at a special meeting of the city council last night at the city hall.

A. M. Gilbert, administrator of the Delta county relief commission, appeared before the body to explain that unless rents were paid many of the clients faced eviction. Rents up to March were paid and for April and May, it is hoped that funds will be available from June allowances from state funds, Mr. Gilbert said.

Councilman Carl B. Johnson, seconded by Peter N. Logan, moved to allow the money and there was no opposition.

Cuts in state allowances for the last few months and deductions made because of shortage of county contribution to welfare and relief funds, have brought on acute money shortage now, Mr. Gilbert said.

It was announced at the meeting that plans are afoot to re-certify some of the 600 WPA workers laid off as of the first of the month in the county. It is possible that 200 will be re-employed, and a decision is expected Tuesday.

Mr. Gilbert said that the 600 man layoff was the cut scheduled for the whole Upper Peninsula and that so far Delta county has borne the whole cut.

City Manager George E. Bean reported that he had been in contact with WPA officials Monday and had been promised an answer as to re-employment by Tuesday.

Rent aid will be asked of the city of Gladstone Tuesday night and townships throughout the county have signified they will aid, Mr. Gilbert reported.

The council voted also to grant a county request to purchase gasoline and oil for sheriff's cars from the city at city rates. The city buys these supplies in large quantities at wholesale prices.

The saving to the county will be between $400 and $500 a year, Councilman Carl Richter, also on the county board of supervisors, estimated. Peter N. Logan, also on the county board, moved for the action and was seconded by Mr. Richter.

Can WPA Musicians Perform for Dances Will Be Considered

Members of the Michigan WPA Music project for Delta county and of the Escanaba local musicians union met together at the city hall last night to discuss whether members of the project should be allowed to play for free dances for young people each Saturday night at the Elks club in co-operation with the city recreational program.

It was decided that a committee to include representatives of the project, the union, the city administration and the city parks and recreation administration should decide the question today.

A conference has been called for this morning in City Manager George E. Bean's office to decide the matter. Albert Luconi of Detroit, state director of the music project; August Spera, district-supervisor, of Iron Mountain; Cecil Collins, director of the Delta county project; Bevier Butts, city recreational director; Chet Morton, president of the musicians' local; Zania Rivers of the recreation staff, and Mr. Bean will be in the conference.

Mr. Luconi, recently appointed, is on a tour of projects in this locality and spoke at the WPA meeting last night.

Perch Fishing Attracts Many Anglers to Van's Harbor

About two hundred fishermen, mostly from Manistique and Escanaba, went to Van's Harbor, near Garden, Sunday to engage in perch fishing. About twenty-five boats were rented to fishermen, while many other anglers fished from the old docks.

Many of them caught their legal limit of 50 perch apiece. Most of the fish were large, ranging from a half-pound to a pound and a half. Mrs. A. N. Wilson, 611 Ludington street, caught one jumbo perch, 12½ inches in length and weighing one pound five ounces.

Garden residents said that the fishing on Sunday was the best it has been in the past five years. Fishing began at 6:30 a. m. and continued until dusk.

CATCHES TROUT LIMIT

Marquette — "They aren't sardines," Dominic Dallas, Marquette tailor, said last night as he burst in the office with a creelful of 15 of the prettiest speckled trout you'd ever hope to lay eyes on.

He caught them in the Slapneck river but wouldn't tell the exact spot. Arthur Bourgeois and William Sudtell each got their limit at Slapneck yesterday also. Dallas' beauties were from 12 to 15 inches long and weighed from a pound to a pound and three ounces.

COLT WAS KILLED

Sault Ste. Marie—A Chippewa county circuit court jury of seven women and five men today returned a verdict of no cause for action in a lawsuit between Chas. C. Quinnell and Elmer McDowell and son, Vern. The jury deliberated for 45 minutes.

Mr. Quinnell asked $125 and $175 for two colts killed Oct. 31, 1939 by a car driven by Vern McDowell, son of Elmer McDowell of Pickford.

It was claimed by George C. Quinnell of Marquette, attorney for Charles Quinnell that young McDowell was negligent in handling his car. Claude W. Coates, attorney for McDowell claimed there was no negligence as the horses, which had broken loose from an enclosed pasture ran in front of the car before McDowell could stop the car.

PETITIONS CIRCULATED

Sault Ste. Marie—Petitions asking Mayor Paul L. Adams and city commissioners to vote "no" on a motion made o. May 6 by Commissioner James W. Troyer for the resignation of City Manager Henry A. Sherman, City Attorney C. W. Coates, and City Clerk Loran McKinnon, were being circulated about the city today.

INJURED IN COLLISION

Menominee — Robert Watkins, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Watkins of 614 Somerville avenue, suffered cuts and bruises about the head and face yesterday when the bicycle he was riding and a car driven by Miss Agnes Collins of 604 Elizabeth street collided.

The accident occurred at the intersection of Ogden avenue and Elizabeth street. Miss Collins took Robert to St. Joseph's hospital, where he was later released after treatment.

Robert was delivering papers when the accident occurred.

WILL BUY COURSE

Marinette — More than 100 Marinette golfers met at Hotel Marinette last night and formed a temporary organization to purchase the Little River Golf course from Mrs. T. R. Michaelis for $10,000.

The group elected Marinette County Judge William F. Haase temporary chairman; Francis J. Dillett, secretary; and Warren Grace, treasurer. An executive committee, the officers and Sam R. Casper, L. M. Evert, Clarence Poad, Fred Mathes, Ervin Fischer, Elmer Tryon, Henry C. Anderson and Francis A. Murphy, was also selected.

BIKE CLUB ORGANIZED

Menominee—The first step in the formation of a bicycle safety club was taken here Thursday when application cards were distributed to Menominee young people at the high school and at a meeting at the D. A. R. Boys' club hall.

The youths attended movies showing proper safety measures to observe while riding bicycles. The movies were shown at two assembly meetings at the school and at the boys' club hall yesterday.

Application cards will be returned to the police department at the city hall. Organization of the club will follow return of the cards. It will be sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Children will be permitted to elect their own officers.

COUPLE SAFE IN ITALY

Norway—Mr. and Mrs. Gust R. Lindeborg, of Norway, concerned over the whereabouts of their son, Abner, who was in Denmark when the country was taken over by the Germans, sought the aid of the state department and today received word from Washington that Abner is safe in Genoa, Italy, and plans to sail on the steamship Count Savoia Tuesday, to return to the United States. He will come immediately to his home here.

The Lindeborgs, receiving no word from their son following the German invasion, sought state department aid on the advice of friends.

Washington immediately investigated and learned that Abner had been taken from Denmark with a party of Americans. He has been in Genoa since shortly after the invasion.

Prize Play Given For Civic Theatre

"In the Bleak December", original one-act play by Mrs. E. J. McMartin, of Escanaba, was presented at a special meeting of the Escanaba Civic Theatre last night. Don Schmelter, a member of the group, was in charge of the presentation. "In the Bleak December" won third prize in the One-Act Play Writing Contest sponsored by the Civic Theatre, and is called an admirable example of play writing technique.

Reports on "Outward Bound" were read to the group, and plans were discussed for the forthcoming production of the first and second prize winning plays, "Isle of the Sunset", by Francis W. Steck, of Calumet, and "Smelt Queen", by Leslie Londo, of Escanaba.

Rev. Father Lester Bourgeois was appointed director of "Isle of the Sunset", and Eleanore Franzen and Naomi Vinette were appointed co-directors of "Smelt Queen." Group members and anyone interested in joining the Civic Theatre are invited to attend the tryouts, which will be held at 7:30 on Wednesday, May 15.

Smith Pays Fine, But Girl Denies She Was With Him In Crash

Ronald Smith, 719 Second avenue south, paid a fine of $10 and costs in justice of the peace court yesterday after pleading guilty to a charge of reckless driving in connection with an accident Saturday afternoon on Sheridan road.

Smith explained that the car which he was driving had been loaned to him by Harvey Dubord, 305 North Twentieth street. Miss Dubord denied that she was in the automobile at the time of the accident as was stated in a Press story Sunday morning.

Reckless Driving Charge Is Placed Against H. C. Hayes

H. C. "Pat" Hayes, 208 South Seventh street, was arraigned before Justice of the Peace H. E. Ranguette yesterday on a charge of reckless driving in connection with an automobile accident Saturday night on U. S. highway 2-41 a short distance south of Gladstone. He pleaded not guilty and his hearing was set for May 23.

Mr. Hayes was given a summons to appear in court when state police Clarence Miller and Emmett Bradley took charge at the accident scene. He was released yesterday on his own recognizance.

James Christie, passenger with Mr. Hayes at the time of the accident suffered scalp lacerations.

The state police reported yesterday that the Hayes car had failed to make a southward curve in the road, had struck a bank at the north side, then veered back across the road and for several feet over an embankment landing in shallow water of Little Bay de Noc.

A case against Alex Malmstead of Pine Ridge, charged with larceny by conversion, was dismissed on motion of Prosecutor William J. Miller yesterday, when it was brought for hearing before Justice Ranguette.

James Nelson of Escanaba, arrested on a warrant sworn by Henry W. Wilford and arraigned on April 30, was found guilty by Justice Ranguette yesterday. He was suspended, but was ordered to pay court costs of $9.25. The accident happened April 21 at Second avenue north and Stephenson avenue.

Mothers Honored By Escanaba Lions

Wives and mothers of Escanaba Lions club members were guests of the club at a Mother's Day meeting last night, and heard the club speaker, the Rev. Fr. Joseph E. Guertin, give an inspiring tribute to the mothers of the world.

Father Guertin pictured mothers in their various roles of life, as "an angel on the altar of sacrifice and love," as an "instrument in the hands of God," and as a "diplomat" molding character.

"When burdens are heavy, let us think of the sacrifices our mothers made," the speaker said, "and it will help us to give our very best."

Announcement was made by President James Frenn of several coming events on the Lions program, including the district convention at Manistique, June 2, 3 and 4, and a party to be given in June for outgoing officers of the organization.

The Paull Sisters, with Willard Clark accompanying, sang two duets as a part of the Mother's Day program arranged by Program Chairman Gust Asp.

Gets Card From Byrd Expedition

A card bearing a Bay of Whales postmark mailed January 14, 1940 was received recently by Rod Hogan of the U. S. Forestry Service from Carl Ecklund who is with the Third Byrd Anarctic Expedition at the South Pole. Ecklund was with the National Biological Survey and was stationed at the Seney Wild Fowl Refuge several years ago and is quite well known here.

Ecklund reported that temperatures at the Pole were "absolutely awful."

Michigamme Dam To Furnish Test Of FPC's Power

Washington — Federal power commission officals are expected to take the view that they have full say as to whether the latest proposed dam across a stream in the upper peninsula of Michigan shall be authorized, it was indicated Tuesday.

The Wisconsin-Michigan Power Co., Milwaukee, filed with the commission a "declaration of intention" to construct a dam across the Michigamme river in Iron county. The company said the Michigamme river at that point was not navigable, that commerce would be in no way affected by its construction and contended the project did not fall under the federal water power act.

Notwithstanding this contention, the application has been sent to the FPC engineers for study.

In its declaration the company related it was generating electric power at four dams on the Menominee river. The purpose of the dam across the Michigamme, which feeds the Menominee, is to equalize and regulate the flow of water.

Should the commission approve the project, likely it will issue a license for its construction, thereby disagreeing with the contention that the matter is outside the government's jurisdiction.

Italian non-belligerency should not and cannot be confused with neutrality.

No Lynchings in Year

THE Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching is rejoicing over the completion of a 12-month period during which not a single lynching has occurred, the first year unmarred by this crime since 1882, which was the time these tabulations were started.

The blackest year in the South's history was in 1892 when 231 people were lynched by mobs. The records reveal a gradual reduction in this crime, largely due to the efects of public reaction. Since 1908 there has been no year with 100 lynchings. Since 1922 no year has had more than 50. Progress in the past decade has been accelerated for in 1935 there were 20 lynchings; in 1936, 8; in 1937, 8; in 1938, 6; and in 1939, only three.

Significant is the fact that the progress in recent years coincides with the formation of the Association of Southern Women for the Prevention of Lynching, now with a membership of 41,000. The association has campaigned against the oftentimes false claims of lynchers that they acted solely in the defense of women. The Southern women's group demands that the accused be given the right of a fair trial by jury.

As a result of the work of this association, southern states have developed more efficient methods for combating mobs, and most important of all public opinion has been aroused against the crime of lynching. The lynchers have been made to appear not as heroes, but as the criminals they are.

It's A Perch Run Now

THE smelt runs are virtually forgotten, but now the perch runs at Van's Harbor on the Garden peninsula are attracting the attention of sport fishermen.

On Sunday, Van's Harbor had all the semblance of feverish activity that is to be seen at the Ford river when the smelt spawning runs are at their height. About two hundred fishermen were counted on the slabdocks, rowboats and larger craft in the harbor of the now abandoned sawmill village. And all of them were pulling up large perch about as fast as they could bait their hooks.

One of the most scenic areas in Michigan, the Garden peninsula is beginning to realize it has wonderful possibilities for developing a lucrative tourist business. Boats are available for rental by visitors, and attention is being given to providing other accommodations and recreational facilities.

There was a time when it was thought that trout fishing was the only lure the Upper Peninsula had to offer for bringing in tourists. But it is being shown that smelt, perch, bass, pike and other species of fish are also eagerly sought by the enthusiastic followers of Izaak Walton.

Fireworks Banned

PESHTIGO has joined the rapidly growing list of Wisconsin cities that are are endeavoring to eliminate the fireworks menace by adopting ordinances prohibiting their sale and use except when responsible organizations sponsor pyrotechnic displays at celebrations. Peshtigo took this action after several serious accidents had been caused by the use of fireworks last year.

Wisconsin does not have a state fireworks law like in Michigan. Despite the fact that Michigan does have this law, however, firecrackers, rockets, torpedoes, caps and other devices are bootlegged in by some merchants. Mail order houses, who sell direct to the customers, most of whom are children, are largely responsible for the evasion of the law.

Each year, a number of boys and girls lose their eyesight and suffer other injuries because of the illegal sale and use of these dangerous playthings. Mere enactment of the law by the legislature does not bring the desired results. Strict enforcement is also necessary.

Starts It, Ends It

SEVERAL weeks ago, Governor Dickinson expressed his approval of a suggestion that only teachers who took an oath not to drink or smoke should teach temperance in the schools.

Dr. Eugene B. Elliott, state superintendent of public instruction, then disagreed with the governor, pointing out that temperance also involves the moderate use of food, exercises and other things. Most of all the state superintendent, it appears, was concerned about the constant agitation to regulate the lives of teachers. Dr. Elliott feels, and rightfully, that the teachers on the whole conduct themselves as law-abiding, decent citizens, and there is no reason why suspicion should be always cast in their direction.

Because Dr. Elliott disagreed with the governor, a group of dry clergymen recently adopted a resolution, asking for the superintendent's resignation. But Governor Dickinson rallied to Elliott's defense, expressed the opinion that the ministerial association had judged wrongly, and declared he saw no reason why he should be removed from office. Probably, the governor does not want his weekly sermons to be taken too seriously.

No Partisan Scheme

ADDITIONAL information to support a bill to permit Michigan to build a bridge across the Straits of Mackinac has been submitted to the house interstate and foreign commerce committee by Representative Fred Bradley, Republican of the Eleventh district.

Rep. Bradley also argued in favor of the permissive legislation. He pointed out that traffic over the straits is increasing each year and that the state of Michigan should not be deprived by the federal government of the right to construct the bridge as long as it does not interfere with lake navigation.

The straits bridge project cannot be viewed as a partisan scheme to get votes. Rep. Bradley has indicated in the past that he favors the bridge. The Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, over a period of years, has adopted resolutions at each meeting, reaffirming its advocacy of the project. Republicans and Democrats, alike, have endorsed it because they feel the linking of the two peninsulas in this manner would be a boon to this northern part of the state.

Copper Output Rises

THE bureau of mines reports that copper production in Michigan totaled 89,402,464 pounds in 1939, the highest output in three years. In 1938, the output was 75,281,469 pounds, and in 1937 it was 84,751,478.

Since Michigan's red metal is all produced in the Copper Country, the figures indicate an improvement in the economic situation in that section of the Upper Peninsula. Copper finds much use in the making of munitions, and it is believed that the increased production was largely as a result of war demands in European nations and the industrial pickup in the United States.

Production will have to increase considerably, however, to equal the boom output figures of the first world war. That was a period when the Copper Country was really booming.

RELIEF HOME RULE
(Marquette Mining Journal)

Investigation by the welfare commission into the results that have followed on home rule in welfare activities in the counties have justified the critics of the legislature's decision to upset the system under which state control was exercised to a far greater extent than is now the case.

Evidence isfound that in many counties political considerations were the dominant factor in determining the personnel of the welfare boards. No effort was made to search out the residents willing to serve who could give the best service. The supervisors who had the selection of two of the three members reached purely political decisions.

In one county, it is reported, the board is made up of three men, none of whom has had even a high school education and none of whom had any prior experience in welfare administration. Their compensation amounted to 17 per cent of the total welfare expenditures for the first three months of the year. This case may be an exaggerated example of the bad results that have been obtained under the present plan, but inadequate personnel in key posts is held to be responsible for no small part of the bad results in relief since the present law was put in effect.

Another serious drawback in the present system is lack of uniformity in methods. Under state direction it was possible to secure a considerable measure of uniformity, with result that what was being done in one county was comparable with what was being done in another. There is reason to believe that, on the whole, home rule has decreased, rather than increased, the efficiency with which relief has been directed.

This is not to contend that if the former system had been retained there would have been no difficulties over relief the past year. The state welfare board has given a good account of itself. Within its limited powers and with limited provision of money, it has done about all that it could have been expected to do. But even if all the county boards had so conducted themselves that they merited commendation similar to that given the state board relief during the year would still have been a constant source of trouble. The basic difficulty was inadequate appropriation.

It is, nevertheless, being made clear that the results would have been better if county administration had been in better qualified hands. Home rule has distinctly not justified itself. If the legislature does what it should do, next year it will again examine the relief system and at least take measures to see that home rule administration, when the need exists, may be subjected to state scrutiny, with conferral of power to remedy abuses that may be found in it.

RESOURCE OR BUSINESS?
(Milwaukee Journal)

Too often businesses which exploit natural resources are confused with the resources themselves.

The people have a fair understanding of natural resources. They want good use made of them but also want reasonable conservation of them. Often, when they say so, they are told: "You don't understand this business."

It isn't necessary that they understand "this business." The oil business may be intricate. An oil pool isn't. If it contains 10,000,000 barrels of oil, and public interest dictates that this oil should last 10 years, then not more than 1,000,000 barrels may be pumped from the pool in a year.

It's no good saying that a half dozen oil companies, operating over that pool, can't get along on a joint production of 1,000,000 barrels. Those companies have got to make the adjustment. The oil pool can't.

So with the forest. If it produces 1,000,000 board feet of lumber in a year, and the public interest dictates that it be not destroyed, then no more than 1,000,000 board eet a year can be cut from that forest.

It's no good saying that this doesn't meet the needs of the lumber business. It's no good telling the people that they don't understand about the cost of lumber camps, peavies, band saws, wage scales in the mills, freight rates and interest on capital investment.

If that forest is to be preserved—if it is to be made a permanently producing unit for the sake o the public good—not more than 1,000,000 board feet can be cut from it no matter who says "You don't understand this business."

Thus we get once more to the Great Lakes fisheries. The people repeatedly are told that they "do not understand the commercial fishing business." They may not. But they understand the fisheries. They consist of nothing but big bodies of water containing fish.

A given maximum of those fish can be taken from the waters each year. If more is taken, the basic supply will be depleted. It at this time is being dangerously depleted. Regulations of some sort—the public doesn't much care what sort — must be made to limit the "take" of fish. And it's no good talking about how that won't meet the needs of the commercial fishing business. Unless it is made to meet them, both the fish and the fishing business are going out of business.

The European neutral just doesn't have a chance. If he doesn't wind up behind the 8-ball, the Fuehrer wind up and pitches the 8-ball at him.

In capturing a town, the only German casualty is a trooper who fell off his motorcycle. Thus do the modern machines of war take their deadly toll.

And now is reported the case of the Bureau of Weights and Measures man who went dude ranching, and filled up his 10-gallon hat with water, just to make sure.

Hitler gambles starvation by blockade against rule over Europe—or over even more than Europe.

Our own peace too is threatened by the Nazi invasion o Holland and Belgium. If it succeeds we are alone in a world largely hostile.

Will it succeed?

The Nazis could win a minimum objective by overrunning northern Holland where the Dutch can fight little but delaying action, and British help can arrive only by narrow seas. In such seas German air power has just recently stymied British sea power. Air power may well enable the German army to win this minimum objective in Holland, whereupon German planes and submarines can intensify the danger to already endangered Britain.

But that will hardly win the war this summer. To do that Hitler must strike the main Franco-British armies a shattering blow and now the best opening is through the "low countries."

Holland and Belgium are flat, far more free of natural barriers than the French frontier. The kaiser took this northern route in 1914. He spared the Dutch, but completely surprised the weak Belgian army, blew up its forts with new heavy artillery.

—BOTH BELGIUM AND HOLLAND READY—

Today Hitler tackles Dutch and Belgians both. Although both are fully warned, strongly fortified and have—Belgium especially—good armies totaling a potential 1,500,000.

They are weakest in the air with perhaps a thousand planes of different types combined. Germany has a superiority in the air over the allies in the west of 3 to 2 or even greater. It is superiority enough to hamper British efforts to land troops by sea in northern Holland, although here the good Dutch navy will help.

That, more than conquest of northern Holland, is the maximum German objective.

Evidently the Nazis are trying to drive a spearhead between Holland and Belgium and with the Maas river as protection sweep out westward, flank the Maginot line and beat the allies in the field. This movement the Nazi air force is aiding by landing troops to seize the Dutch canals, flooding stations, and the Belgium railroad junctions through which would come allied reinforcements from France.

—BRITISH NOT FITTED FOR ALL FRONTS—

Some British units are seasoned regulars. More are newer formations better fitted for holding quiet Frence sectors than for such open warfare as we shall now see, lightning-like in its rapidity, fearful in its demand on troops and especially on officers.

But the French are another story. Theirs is the best army in Europe in organization, homogeneity, staff work and peace time training. The Nazi surpass it in equipment and in fighting experience.

That experience was gained against under equipped Poland and unaware Norway. Now Germany strikes the real thing. Her hope is not in her army alone but in the air power that largely won those trial heats. On both she bases a prodigious gamble.

If she seems to be winning, she probably counts on Mussolini joining in attacking France. The bombing of Lyons and of Switzerland may be preparations or diversions. France may be squeezed in the pincers north and south or France and Britain may counter-attack through the Balkans. Then, who knows what Russia will do and Japan? Armageddon has begun.

Answers To Questions

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

A reader can get the answer to any question of fact by writing The Escanaba Daily Press Information Bureau, Frederic J. Haskin, Director, Washington, D. C. Please enclose three (3) cents for reply.

Q. How much money will the New York Yankees receive for permission to broadcast the games?

A. The Yankees will be paid $75,000 by the sponsors for the privilege of broadcasting the baseball games daily in 1940.

Q. What kind of an animal is a potto? S. C.

A. It is a small lemurine mammal of West Africa about the size of a squirrel, with soft yellow fur and protruding, yellow, perpendicular eyes. The potto is a nocturnal animal of the tree-tops and its weird, whimpering cries are believed by the natives to be voices of evil spirits. Dr. W. M. Mann, leader of the Smithsonian-Firestone Expedition in Liberia has captured one of these rare animals for the National Zoological Park at Washington.

Q. Who was called the Rock of Chickamauga? J. C.

A. This was the title given General George Henry Thomas because of the steadfastness with which he held his position on that famous battlefield in the Civil War.

Q. What was the St. Valentine's Day massacre? T. C.

A. On February 14, 1929, seven Chicago gangsters, members of the George (Bugs) Moran gang, were trapped in a garage on North Clark Street by members of a rival gang and killed with sawed-off shotguns and machine guns fired at close range. All of the gunmen made their escape.

Q. How much rent did the U. S. Government pay to France for the trenches in the World War? H. U. R.

A. The War Department says that the United States has never paid rent to the French Government, or to a French citizen, for the occupation of trenches in the battle line. The rumors in regard to this matter have probably originated from the fact that the United States rented ground for training purposes, and paid a certain amount for damages to property when training trenches were constructed.

Q. What was the first sports paper in the United States? E. D.

A. The first newspaper devoted to sports was the American Turf Register which appeared in Baltimore in August, 1829.

Q. Have there ever been men telephone operators? E. T. H.

A. The first operators of the telephone switchboard installed in New Haven, Connecticut, in 1878 were boys. "Ahoy-ahoy" was used instead of the customary "hello."

Q. Who was elected Vice President with Abraham Lincoln for his first and second terms as President? C. R.

A. Hannibal Hamlin of Maine was elected for the first term, and Andrew Johnson of Tennessee for the second. Upon the death of Lincoln, Johnson became the 17th President.

Q. Was Eli Whitney interested in the manufacture of firearms? D. M.

A. In 1798 the inventor secured Government contracts for manufacturing firearms, and was the first to effect a division of labor by which each part was made up and then assembled. He also designed ingenious machinery for the manufacture of the guns.

Q. How many deaths occur from drowning? W. D. W.

A. In 1939 the total number of deaths from drowning was 6700.

Q. Has there ever been a poll taken to show what is the favorite American poem? M. J. R.

A. Such a poll was conducted in the columns of 252 daily newspapers located in 39 States, and the favorite in this survey was "A Psalm of Life" by Henry Wadsworth Longfellow.

Q. What are the words most frequently mispronounced? C. D. H.

A. According to a compilation of the Office of Education, the twelve words most often mispronounced are: on, again, toward, interesting, accept, address, preferable, drowned, perform, automobile, attacked, and forehead.

Q. Please explain the curse of the Habsburgs. M. B. K.

A. The expression, "Curse of the Habsburgs" is frequently used by writers in reference to the series of misfortune that befell the members of this family, particularly the last Emperor Francis Joseph. In addition to the taint of insanity several of the Habsburgs have died violent deaths.

Q. What is the meaning of the legal term habeas corpus? W. H. R.

A. This is "the great writ of personal liberty." Habeas corpus is a court order directing one who holds another to produce the body of the person detained before the court to determine whether there exists sufficient cause for his detention.

Hollywood Column

Bill Porter bats for Paul Harrison while the NEA Hollywood columnist is on his vacation.

BY BILL PORTER
NEA Service Staff Correspondent

Hollywood—Two years in bed with a broken back was instrumental in providing Major George Campbell McBride with one of the strangest jobs in Hollywood.

McBride is the man who teaches movie stars how to manipulate playing cards for pictures. In other words, he's a card shark.

As he talked this tall, lanky Irishman on the set of "Rangers of Fortune" kept making cards fly through the air as though the whole deck were fastened together by a rubber band. And he'd make a card disappear and reappear as some other card.

His job on this picture is to teach Fred MacMurray, Albert Dekker and Gilbert Roland expert poker technique for a gambling scene. For amusement he's teaching MacMurray a little pasteboard prestigitation.

Major McBride won his title as an officer of the British Royal Flying Corps during the first World War. He was shot down in France and when they dragged him out of the wreck he had a broken back.

For two years following that accident he lay on his back in an English base hospital. He amused himself by tossing playing cards into the air, trying to catch them, and by doing card tricks. Now, as a result of years of training, the Major says he can actually "feel" the different cards.

• • •

TEACHING CARD TRICKS IS EASY ON BACK

When the war was over, McBride decided to seek his fortune in America. His back was cured but he couldn't do any heavy work.

He found his fortune in Hollywood. In the 18 years he has been in the film city, McBride has worked at every studio as an instructor in card artistry.

He has taught hundreds of actors to manipulate cards. Among his students have been Clark Gable, Jeanette MacDonald, Bing Crosby, Barbara Stanwyck, Jack Benny, James Cagney, Paulette Goddard, Walter Pidgeon, Akim Tamiroff, Gary Cooper, Robert Preston, Ray Milland, Fredric March, Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and many more.

"I enjoy teaching movie actors card tricks," said McBride, "because I know they won't use what I teach them except for picture work. There is nothing a card expert dislikes so much as a man or woman who cheats at cards. It takes all the fun out of the game.

"The old axiom 'cheaters never prosper' is absolutely true. Sooner or later a cheater will run into someone like me who knows all the tricks. Then they're taken for a buggy ride—but good."

For all his dexterity with cards, McBride doesn't make any of his living over the money change hands across poker tables in Hollywood, but none of it gets into McBride's pocket. He makes his living entirely from his movie work and he makes a good one.

"I love to play cards," said McBride, "but I don't dare play. If I win, my friends think I'm cheating, and if I lose my friends feel I'm letting them win. It's no fun either way. I have to get my fun by playing ping pong or Chinese checkers."

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY PEARSON AND ALLEN

Washington — Some devastating criticism of the British Army has been cabled out of Norway and London, but it was not half so critical as the confidential information collected by our own military observers and cabled back to Washington.

This information describes inefficiency, stupidity and lack of coordination almost beyond belief. Also it reveals that Hore-Belisha, deposed War Minister of the Chamberlain Cabinet, was absolutely right in advocating reorganization of the army.

Here are some of the unbelievable boners pulled by the British Army in Norway:

1. When the British landed at Andalsnes, they put ashore 460 anti-tank guns, but not a single round of ammunition for them. The ammunition was down in the hold of another ship.

In short, the British have not yet remedied the mistake they made in the Boer War (1899). They learned then that when a landing party goes ashore, it must be equipped with everything it needs, ready to go into action the minute it sets foot on land.

The U. S. Army made the same mistake in the Spanish-American War, but has remedied it since. The British, however, dumped their goods on the shore in Norway, then proceeded to sort them out and distribute them.

—CUT TO RIBBONS—

2. When the British landed two battalions at Namsos, they were without a single anti-tank or anti-aircraft gun. Yet their commander knew they had to face German forces equipped with the latest tanks and supported by airplanes. As a result, the British were cut to pieces. One battalion lost 45 per cent of its men, the other 30 per cent.

3. There was absolutely no coordination between British land and air forces. The Royal Force is completely independent of the Army and Navy. This means that today, if a British army commander in France wants more air support, he has to telegraph back to London, which then gives orders to the Air Force. And what does a pundit sitting at a desk in London know about actual needs in the front line trenches?

In contrast, the German commander, General Von Falkenhorst, was in complete command of German naval, air and army units. He was also in command of communications, so no message could go back to Berlin without his permission.

—MILITARY JEALOUSY—

The same jealousy exists between the British air force and the navy which once existed between U. S. armed services. For instance, the Royal Air Force limits the number of planes to be carried on airplane carriers (even though they come under the Navy), and failed to replace those destroyed during normal pre-war operations. Result was that the plane carriers operating off Norway were short of planes.

According to U. S. military experts, all this is an outgrowth of the inertia and caste system of the British Army. Officers get their rank through birth and social position, not ability. There is more emphasis on tradition than efficiency. "If it was good enough for my father it is good enough for me," has been the watchword of the British military (perhaps also of the Chamberlain Cabinet).

Leslie Hore-Belisha started to root out some of these evils, but did not go nearly far enough. He only irritated the military nobility, without getting at the real weaknesses.

—BABY SENATOR—

Today's (Tuesday's) primary in West Virginia marks the end of one of the bitterest feuds in the Senate—that between able Senator Matthew Neely and baby Senator Rush Dew Holt.

They have not spoken a single word to each other for over two years. When Neely took the oath of office after re-election, Holt refused to walk down the corridor with him, as is customary, while he placed his hand upon the Bible.

But today, they are united in opposing the West Virginia State House gang, Neely running for Governor and Holt for Senator.

That much is well-known. But the little dramatic incident which buried the hatchet has not been told. Neely had urged certain patronage appointments, mostly postmasterships, and he wanted them badly. But the appointments were held up by Holt, who is a member of the Senate Post Offices Committee.

One day, when Neely's candidates were brought up before the committee, Holt suddenly "lifted his finger"—that is, indicated his approval of the Neely men.

When the committee broke up, he encountered Senator Neely at the door. "Is that satisfactory to you, Senator?", said Holt, and Neely said it was.

That was all. Ater that, they got together for re-election.

THE FATHER OF THE BRIDE

They don't even pause to consider me,
I'm the dad of the bride!
They don't seem to care where I am, where I'll be,
I'm only the dad to the bride!
Of course if they find they are needing some money
They're seeking me out and calling me "honey,"
And saying I look so solemn and funny—
Why not? I'm the dad of the bride!

It's custom, of old, that I give her away,
I'm the dad of the bride!
But till then, and from then I don't have a "say,"
I'm the dad of the bride!
The woman surround her and hug her and kiss her,
They drench her with tears and swear they will miss her,
I'm too far away, if I wanted, to kiss her,
I'm only the dad of the bride!

NATION'S YOUTH FUTURE IS DIM

'Do Nothing' Philosophy Rapped By Racey At Service Meeting

The youth of today are hobbled through unwise political and educational policies with an undesirable philosophy of negativism and are suffering for want of a champion of ideals propounded by the late Tehodore Roosevelt and inculcated by parents and teachers a generation ago, Lee Racey, financial specialist of Milwaukee, told members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at a joint meeting yesterday.

Racey contrasted his own youth with that of his son today. He said he was brought up on a Wisconsin farm by a father who believed in Teddy Roosevelt's ideas of honesty, individualism, lack of class distinction and progressiveness. He said he was taught that work was a dignified way of living and a desirable one. The young people were encouraged to work hard and to believe that such studious application would bring its own reward.

Something for Nothing

"The youth of today," said Racey, "must fight for the things that once were inalienable rights. One of the worst odds of today that did not face the youth of yesterday is the prevalent attitude toward work and individual effort. The mass population seems to have surrendered to the idea that they must be carried along. They feel that they are entitled to something for nothing. Initiative is discouraged. There no longer is dignity in good, honest work. There are laws preventing ambitious young men from working more than 40 hours in many instances and I know that no person will go a long ways in this world working only 40 hours a week."

Racey rapped excessive governmental expenditures and intrusion of government in private business, saying that both were contributing greatly to the stagnation of business and curtailment of individual initiative.

The speaker said that politicians are not entirely to blame for the present "do nothing" philosophy, charging that educational institutions of the country are fostering such an attitude. He said young people today are being educated to a life of leisure, their education being "sugar coated."

"Character suffers rude shock," said Racey, "through this education of leisure. The youth of today have a crying need for some champion for the cause against class hatred, religious intolerence and racial prejudice."

The speaker was introduced by Clarence Zerbel, Kiwanis club secretary. Robert Deo presided at the meeting in the absence of Rotary officers, who are attending the district convention at Wisconsin Rapids.

K. of C. Membership Drive Committees Named by Chairman

Bert Henne, general chairman of the Knights of Columbus membership drive, announced the members of the reinstatement and membership committees last night. The reinstatement committee will include Pat Degnan, Phil Bruce, James J. Frenn, Mike Greis, Wm. P. Hanrahan, Jr., Joe Lequia, Wm. J. Roddy, Bob Pryall, Clyde McGonagle, John Bartella, and John A. Lemmer. On the membership committee are John Bartel, Matt Sullivan, Jim Koski, Henry Delorier, Bob McKindles, Wm. Miron, Leo Laviolette, Alfred Gardner, John Malloy, Bob Lemire, Adelore Patient, Louis DeGrand, Steven Slambo, and Tom Quinn.

These and other committees will meet tonight at the K. of C. club rooms following a round-up dinner which will be served at 6:30 p. m.

Following the dinner there will be entertainment by the Escanaba high school double quartet and William Clark who will play popular piano selections.

Mr. and Mrs. John Hanger are the parents of a daughter, Mary Lee, born Saturday, May 4th at the Newberry clinic.

Miss Lois Knight, Methodist missionary of the Upper Peninsula is expected to arrive here Saturday and will be the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Carpenter. While here Miss Knight will conduct Sunday school teachers training classes at McMillan, Lakefield, Germfask and Grand Marais. From May 12th to 18th, classes will be held at McMillan and from May 19th to 25th at Lakefield. From May 26th to June 1st, Miss Knight will hold teachers' training classes and Bible school at Germfask and from June 2nd to June 8th training classes and Bible school will be held at Grand Marais.

Mrs. Lyle Painter was hostess to the 500 Club last Thursday evening. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Emerson Smith, Mrs. Harvey Mainville and Mrs. A. J. Mainville.

On Monday evening, members of the Girls' Auxiliary to the Ladies' Aid, will be hostesses at a dinner party to be held at the parsonage in honor of Miss Lois Knight.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Loomis of Kenton arrived here this week where the former has accepted a position as relief agent at the depot. The Loomises, who are former McMillan residents, have just returned from a two months visit with relatives in California.

Mrs. Emerson Smith and Mrs. Vink Spincich motored to Manistique Wednesday to shop and visit friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Koontz and children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Chapman at Newberry Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Skinner of the Sault are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Skinner.

A. J. Mainville attended a meeting of the County Board of Supervisors held at Newberry Wednesday.

Mrs. Lyle Painter, Mrs. Kenneth Foster, Miss Jessie Hanger and Miss Florence Rushton were Newberry visitors Sunday evening.

Verne Chamberlain, who has been depot agent here fore the past few months, has been recalled to his former position in Marquette.

Mrs. Floyd Bryers and son, Marvin, visited Mr. and Mrs. Carl Ferguson in Newberry Tuesday.

Donald McInnis, Kenneth Foster, A. J. Mainville, Ralph Taylor, and Lyle Painter enjoyed a steak supper at the McInnis cabin on the Tahquamenon river Thursday evening.

The annual meeting of the Methodist McMillan circuit will be held in the church parlors of the Lakefield M. E. church on Friday evening, May 17th. Special music will be furnished by the Germfask choir, and Dr. Yeoman, district superintendent of Marquette will preside at the business meeting. A cordial invitation to attend this meeting is extended to all interested persons.

Miss Barbara Campbell of Newberry visited Mr. and Mrs. Amos Thompson for a few days this week.

Sunday visitors at the George Tanner home were Mrs. Maude Tanner and Miss Luella Tanner of Newberry and Victor Buckland and Louis Des Jardins of Grand Marais.

Mrs. Minnie McCarty of the Sault visited her sister, Mrs. Harriet Galligher, Mrs. George Taylor and Mrs. Sarah Locke here Sunday.

BOARD STUDIES COUNTY TAXES

Allocation Commission Hears Welfare and Other Needs

The Delta county tax allocation commission spent yesterday afternoon discussing county finances, but deferred any decisions until a meeting on May 24, when a tentative allocation may be made.

A. M. Gilbert, administrator of the county welfare commission, which has charge of relief work, presented state demands that the county set up a $32,000 fund for direct relief purposes, in addition to funds already allowed for welfare purposes, and Carl Person, chairman of the county finance committee, reported that the county had a deficit of $17,000 for 1939 and that it appears a similar deficit may result at the end of this year.

Mr. Person stressed that the deficit results from expenses over which the county has no control. These include costs for circuit court and jury fees, costs for welfare institutional care, for increased juvenile cases before the probate court, for care of patients at Newberry state hospital and for other extra demands which can not be foreseen.

John A. Lemmer, superintendent of Escanaba public schools also was present and explained briefly the needs of the schools. Further information is likely on school needs at later meetings of the commission. Yesterday's meeting however was devoted chiefly to the demands on the eight mill county and welfare portion of the total of 15 milis county taxes. School and township needs are scheduled for fuller consideration later.

Mr. Gilbert's request for more money was made at the suggestion of the state welfare commission, which is insisting that the county provide more funds toward keeping the welfare program on an 80 per cent-20 per cent basis of expenditure, the state furnishing the 80 per cent.

It was the concensus of the meeting, it was reported, that the county probably can meet demands only by increasing income or by cutting expenses, although it was indicated no drastic measures are anticipated now.

The allocation commission is made up of County Treasurer Ralph R. Olsen, who was elected chairman yesterday; Mr. Person; Helmer J. Skogquist of Gladstone; John Peltier of Escanaba school board; C. P. Titus, county school commissioner, and P. A. LeClaire, county clerk, who is clerk and ex-officio member of the allocation group.

Arts and Crafts Exhibit Will Be Held May 20-25

The third annual arts and crafts exhibit of articles made in the city recreation centers will be held May 20 to 25 in conjunction with the open house week, emphasizing the result of activities conducted with the cooperation of WPA members of the professional and service division. The exhibit will be sponsored for the third consecutive year by the Escanaba Lions Club who will award first, second and third place winners in all divisions. Clarence Moreau has been named chairman.

Exhibits will include woodworking articles, beadwork, raffia work, flies and artificial baits, photographs, pastel sketching, oil and water color paintings, charcoal drawings, lathe turning, furniture, lamps, cabinets, archery equipment, snow shoes, skiis, games, ornaments, dresses, aprons, hot pads, stuffed dolls and animals, weaving, pencil and crayon drawings and many other articles made in the center during the past year. All articles have been made under the direction of WPA recreational leaders cooperating with the city department of parks and recreation.

This exhibit which has aroused unusual interest during the former two years is being held during the week of May 20 to 25 as a special inducement to have people visit the recreational centers and other activities during the open house week. Reservations for the opening banquet to be held Monday night, May 20, are now being taken at the city recreation center, telephone number 1347, or may be made with any recreational leader.

Phyllis M. Pearce, 5 Months Old, Dies

Phyllis May Pearce, five months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pearce, of 210 North Eighteenth street, Mrs. Pearce, the former Helen Anderson, died Monday morning at 5 o'clock at St. Francis hospital. The baby had been ill for a week suffering from intestinal obstruction.

Phyllis May was born in Escanaba November 19, 1939. Surviving are her parents, two sisters, Gertrude, 8, and Ruth, 3, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Anderson.

The body was taken to the Anderson Funeral Home where it is resting in state. Services will be held in the funeral home chapel Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Dr. C. Albert Lund of Bethany Lutheran church officiating, and burial will be in Lakeview cemetery.

SMELT EVENT PAID ITS WAY

Menominee and Marinette Plan Big Festival Next Year

Menominee—The annual Menominee River Smelt Festival, which will be held for the seventh time next spring, will be handled by Chamber of Commerce groups from the Twin Cities, it was decided last night at the final meeting of the 1940 festival committees.

Financial reports, showing that disbursements and receipts practically balanced, were given during the meeting which was held at the Rathskellar of the Menominee brewery, and suggestions based upon experiences this year were made for the benefit of next year's sponsors.

High praise was given to Dr. J. D. Frankland and Police Chief Frank Parsek, co-chairmen of the 1940 festival and moving spirits of the event since inception, as well as to the more than 40 persons who served on the various committees during the three-month preparations for the program which brought an estimated 20,000 and $50,000 to the banks of the river during the double-weekend celebration this year. Al Graby, chairman of the finance committee, which raised more than $1,500 for the celebration, also was lauded by committeemen.

Leaders Retire

The decision to turn the preparations and handling of the event over to the boards of directors of the two Chambers of Commerce came when Dr. Frankland and Chief Parsek requested that they be relieved of the tremendous burden of supervising the festival. Directors of the two civic organizations will be asked to select co-chairmen but in general the set-up of the smelt festival organization will not be changed, it was indicated.

Suggestions for the 1941 festival included:

Setting up of rigs sponsored by business firms for the use of out-of-town visitors;

Securing of a semi-dirigible balloon to be moored here during the festival;

Improved public address system;

Different forms of entertainment, probably featuring professional acts;

Establishment of a freezing plant for the storage of surplus fish during the height of the run;

Restriction of the formal program to a single weekend, but probably extending over a four or five-day period;

Setting up of a packing station for the assistance of visitors in preparation of fish for transportation;

Adequate housing arrangements;

An increase in the number of dipnets available without charge for out-of-town visitors;

A monster parade.

Committeemen also suggested that preparations for the 1941 festival be started immediately and that a steady stream of publicity be prepared at frequent intervals and submitted to magazines and newspapers.

Mrs. Sterrett Dies In Auto Accident

Mrs. Gideon Stegath has received word of the death of Mrs. Berry Lathrop Sterrett of Birmingham, Ala., who was fatally injured in an automobile accident on Thursday while returning from a trip to Nashville, Tenn. Mrs. Sterrett was the daughter of the late Frank H. Lathrop and Essie Woodin Lathrop, one-time residents of Escanaba.

Mrs. Sterrett is survived by her husband, two daughters and one son. Funeral services were held at Birmingham Saturday.

worth many a dollar to you sweet corn growers who swear by all your agricultural college and county agents tell you relative to your soil an dthe growing of your crops.

Last fall a county agent and several of his buddies had sweet corn for dinner at the Rhinelander, Wis., county fair. After dinner they called the lady over who had waited on them and asked her to save them some of the same corn for supper as this was the most delicious sweet corn they had ever eaten. The lady informed them that she would save them some more and that this corn could not help being the most delicious sweet corn they had ever eaten on account of its having been grown with SOIL MANNA. The gentlemen forgot to come back for supper nor had anybody seen any of them during the rest of this fair. They simply could not take it after having ripped up the back most unmercifully a natural product which had the audacity to have them turn the tables on their ownselves in this innocent manner.

Call it providence—call it fate of irony—call it whatsoever your are in mind to, there is something or some one whom we have no control over who makes a laughing stock out of all who insist on selling the people down the river. The truth will prevail in the end always. The SOIL MANNA minerals gave the Rhinelander sweet corn and others the distinct, delicious flavor their county agents and buddies raved over so. There simply can be no quality or distinct delicious flavor without minerals no matter as to what whomsoever may say the contrary. You are perfectly safe to grow the most delicious sweet corn or any other crop with SOIL MANNA and the way they will sell. What the county agent and his buddies told the Rhinelander lady before she let the cat out of the bag should prove to you that you cannot grow enough of SOIL MANNA delicious sweet corn. Our SOIL MANNA will grow the best of everything which can be grown in soil in a safe, sane, natural, tried and proven and most economical manner.

Frock And Cape Outfit Offers Many Versions

PATTERN 9402

Do you like simple frocks, enlivened by striking touches? Then Marian Martin has planned Pattern 9402 just for you! There's exciting novelty in a vividly printed sash that laces down the center through quickly-made eyelets, and ties at the front waist. You may omit the lacings in a simpler version, using just a bright sash. The frock is made in just two main pattern parts, with darts around the seamless waistline and curved yokes cut in one with the back. Make short sleeves with rounded tabs, or brief, lace-edged flares. Now add the very short, smart cape, which might dashingly match the sash, and finish off your costume with a flourish!

Pattern 9402 may be ordered only in misses' sizes 12, 14, 16, 18 and 20. Size 16, dress, requires 3 3-8 yards 39 inch fabric and 1-4 yard contrast.

STUFFED LAMB ROLL
(Serves four to six)

Two to 3 pounds breast of lamb, 3 tablespoons butter or other fat, 1 small onion, 2 tablespoons chopped parsley, 1 cup chopped celery, 2 cups bread crumbs, salt and pepper.

Have the bones removed from the breast of lamb so that the meat can be spread out flat. Cook the chopped onion in the butter until lightly brown. Add the parsley, celery and bread crumbs an dseason with salt and pepper. Spread the stuffing on the meat, roll and tie it securely. Place the roll on a rack in a baking pan and dredge with flour. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Sear in a hot oven (500 degrees F.) then bake at a moderate temperature (325 degrees F.) for about 1 1-2 hours or until the meat is tender.

Seniors Plan Ball With Dutch Garden Theme of Setting

Seniors of the Escanaba senior high school are making final arrangements for their ball which will be held in the school gymnasium Friday evening.

Decorations for the ball this year are to be woven around the theme of the song, "A Little Dutch Garden," which is to be played at the beginning and end of the affair. A total of 2,000 stars are to be placed in the sky setting with the Dutch mills and tulip covered stone walls beneath.

Music will be under the direction of Chet Morton and his orchestra from 9 a. m. to 1 a. m.

At least one member of each couple must be a member of the senior high school and sophomores are required to attend with some other senior high school student.

Each couple makes a pledge to abide by the various rules before being permitted to attend.

Entertainment By C.Y.O. Groups Greatly Enjoyed

A large and appreciative audience attended the program given by St. Anne's C. Y. O. members Sunday in honor of their mothers. The musical numbers were thoroughly enjoyed but the two one-act plays were especially well received.

"Elmer," under the direction of Rev. Fr. Lester Bourgeois, was given by the Junior division. The cast included Charles Harvey, Ann Konski, Doreen Villeneuve, Mary Jane Richter, Rose Mary Barron, Francis Farrell, Lillian Gagner, Betty Beaumier and Harold Klotz.

An old-fashioned melodrama, "She Was Only a Farmer's Daughter," was presented by the Senior division, under the direction of Miss Genevieve Thompson. Margaret Hamelin played the sweet, innocent heroine, Milly Spivins, pursued by the cruel villain, Mulberry Foxhall, portrayed by Francis Moran. Keith Dishno was the strong-hearted but bashful hero, Osgood Smithers. Jane Beauchamp was another innocent young girl, Alice Smith, also in the clutches of the villain; Louise Roberge ably played Mrs. Smithers, the stern innkeeper and Celeste DeGrand was the laughable Aunt Sally who suffered with the "as my." Dolores Denoo and Louis Belanger, Jr., were the anxious and socially inclined parents of Alice.

YAGODZINSKI IS ASSESSED $500

Ray Moore of Escanaba Receives Benefits of Verdict

In one of the shortest civil suits at the May term, a Menominee county circuit court jury returned a verdict Friday night awarding $500 to Roy Moore, an Escanaba WPA worker, against Leo Yagodzinski of Harris as the result of an automobile accident.

Testimony in the suit was started before Circuit Judge Frank A. Bell late Friday afternoon. Only five witnesses testified. The case went to the jury at 5:15 p. m. and a verdict was returned at 8 p. m.

Moore had originally sought $5,000 damages for medical expenses and loss of wages. The claim was reduced to $2,200, however, by his attorney in his argument before the jury.

Accident In Escanaba

Moore testified that he was traveling slowly along highway US-41 and 2 in Escanaba in April, 1938, when his car was struck by another driven by Yagodzinski. Moore said his car was demolished. He told the court that the Yagodzinski car was traveling at an excessive rate of speed in a 20 mile zone.

Yagodzinski testified that the Moore car did not have a tail light and that lights of approaching cars blinded him, so that he did not see the Moore car until he was within 10 feet of it. He admitted that he was traveling 45 miles an hour when the accident occurred.

Passengers Testified

Richard Montgomery, Joseph Slice and Gilbert Osier, all passengers in the Yagodzinski car, testified that the tail light on the Moore car was out.

Jurors on the case were Lafayette Merrill of Nadeau township, Mrs. F. J. DuBrueq of Menominee, Leonard LeMay of Menominee, Harold Smith of Menominee township, Mrs. Stella Roubal of Menominee township, Mrs. Dagmer Fernstrum of Menominee, Frank Heraly of Menominee, Mrs. Agnes Dame of Mellen township, Mrs. Lillian Paine of Stephenson township, Walter Gross of Menominee, Louis Witrick of Holmes township and William Arnold of Spalding township.

New Cessna, Cabin Airplane Bought By Jack Whitney

Jack Whitney, well known local sportsman and mink rancher, has just completed plans for the purchase of a new Cessna, 4 place cabin airplane which will be delivered here about July 1.

The ship is powered with a Warner-Scarab 145 horsepower motor and has a cruising speed of 144 miles per hour. It is completely equipped with both radio and blind flying instruments.

Whitney's Cessna will be the second new ship recently purchased by Escanaba flyers. A three place cabin Stinson purchased by Harold Gessner was delivered here several weeks ago.

At the present time there is more activity at the local airport and more local people flying than at any time since the new city airport was built according to Art Jacobson, local airport manager.

Besides three Escanaba high school students who are flying regularly there are more than 25 flyers, including students, who are active at the local port. Among them are Allen Beck, Carl Dahl, Pete Gundry, Chester LaPine, John Sullivan Jr., Clayton Hakes, Joseph Spangler, W. H. DeGrave, Roy Ingalls, Edward Stack, Alfred Jolly, Jack Whitney, Karl Arntzen, Jon Thorin, Henry Olsen, Fred Marenger, Lillian Nelson, Earl Brukhart, Bill Thorin, Leonard Ward, Rolfe Olsen, Edward LaPlante, Rudy Bendarra, Edward Langin, Edmund Olsen, Bert Johnson, Harold Gessner and Walter Arntzen.

BY FREDERICK GARDNER

New York, May 13 (AP)—Financial markets toppled today, with stocks beaten down 2 to more than 9 points, as Wall Street sentiment turned bearish on European war developments.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues fell 2.7 points to 45.8, biggest drop for a single day since November 19, 1937. The composite touched a new low since August 24, last year.

With the ticker tape 4 minutes late, both in the forenoon and in a last-minute selling drive, transfers of 2,557,790 shares were the largest since September 13, 1939. They compared with 2,086,240 in last Friday's tumble.

The morning relapse was blamed partly on the unloading of impaired Dutch margin accounts by brokers who were unable to get in touch with Amsterdam customers. In addition, some liquidation from other foreign sources was reported.

On top of this, speculative forces that follow the market chart lines were said to have run out because of the fact the industrial average went through the January low resistance level and this was taken as a definite selling signal.

It was one of the broadest markets in many months, 1,020 individual issues changing hands. Of these 930 declined, 14 advanced and 76 were unchanged.

Dampening sentiment were running dispatches indicating allied contingents were not doing so well against the Nazis and fears the United States was in greater danger of involvement than at any time since the conflict started.

Business news was favorable in spots, but for the most part was ignored. Even an unexpected estimated jump in this week's steel mill operations failed as a stimulant. Steel stocks were among the shakiest. Motors were pounded as used car stocks throughout the country mounted. Aircrafts nose-dived with the rest, despite optimism over sales abroad. Coppers were cold to a boost in the red metal scrap price.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, May 13 (AP)—Grain traders whose pessimism grew with the tide of war sold enough futures contracts today to cause prices of all cereals to slump sharply.

Wheat tumbled 2 3-4 to 3 cents below Saturday's close, with May finishing at $1.05 7-8 to $1.05 3-4 and July $1.05 3-4 to $1.05 5-8.

Corn lost 1½ to 1 7-8. May closing at 66½ and July 67 1-8 to 67¼. Oats fell 5-8 to 1 cent, rye 3 1-8 to 3 3-8 and soy beans 1 to 1¼. Practically all of the gains which were scored following the German westward invasion Friday have now been wiped out.

Extreme weakness of securities prices and talk of improving domestic crop prospects, with weather conditions favorable and rains forecast for most of the grain belt, contributed to the wheat market's bearishness. Profit taking went hand in hand with stop loss orders. And mill buying diminished while evening up of accounts added to selling.

CHICAGO LIVESTOCK
Chicago, May 13 (AP)—Salable hogs 11,000; total 14,000; market opened 15 to 20 higher than Friday's average; later trade active with bulk sales mostly 25 up; full advance on hogs 250 lbs. and up; sows 25 higher; top 6.25 paid freely for 200 to 240 lbs.; small lot 200 lbs. 6.30; bulk good and choice 180 to 270 lbs. 6.05 to 6.25; 270 to 350 lbs. 5.75 to 6.10; good 400 to 550 lb. sows 5.00 to 5.35; few lightweights to 5.50 and above; shippers took 3,000; estimated holdover 1,000.

New York, May 13 (AP)—Bond prices slumped heavily today in a selling wave inspired by war fear.

Even U. S. governments, although remaining far above par, fell as much as 1½ points.

Although foreign bonds were among the heaviest hit, this list also included some of the few gainers. Issues of Norway, Denmark, Oslo City and Uruguay advanced. A few bonds of Germany were traded at fractional increases. Belgium 7s, on the other hand, dropped nearly 16 points.

Among corporates, losers of three or more points included Walworth 4s at 62; Third Avenue adjustment 5s at 18½; Porto Rican American Tobacco stamped 6s of '42 at 73¾; Nickel Plate 4½s at 48¾; New York Central 5s at 52½; and American & Foreign Power 5s at 56.

On The RECORD

By Dorothy Thompson

ON A PARIS RAILWAY STATION

The soldier stands face to face with his girl, his hands on her waist, under her jacket. The officer holds his girl by her arms. The soldier kisses his girl unashamedly. The officer kisses his girl with his eyes. None of the four speaks at all.

* * *

The French are a talkative people. On the crowded platform hardly a word is heard. What is there to say now that has not been said before? What is apprehended that was not long since apprehended? What has come that was not awaited?

"Sincerely trusts" . . . "Conscience of mankind" . . . "Respects neutrality" . . . "Rights of non-belligerents." . . .

Hitler's troops without warning crossed the frontiers of Luxemburg, Holland and Belgium Friday, May 10, 1940, at dawn. They dropped into Holland in Dutch uniforms, from parachutes. Men from Mars.

"We shall breed a new race out of an elite, trained to hardness, cruelty, violence; supermen, leading masses. On them we shall found a new Reich that will last for a thousand years.

"The supermen will be ingenious, treacherous, masterful. The masses will be uniform, with arms that rise and fall rhythmically, voices that cry hoarsely, rhythmically, 'Seig Heil!' "

"First the men from Mars, and then the masses. Breed them, mothers! Prizes for the most fertile! Equality for the illegitimate! Born in love or lust or for a bonus, all are equal, all alike, one folk, one Reich, one Fuehrer."

* * *

The soldiers on the Paris railway station are uniformed, but they are not uniform. Men of yesterday, why has each of you a different face? You, so diverse, so individual; you, with the ascetic bones and the cynical eyes; you, little soldier with the gleeful mouth of a peasant epicurean; you, lovers of books and you, lover of your girl, and you with the nervous lips—you have got to meet the man of tomorrow, No. 1135, type B.

The soldier holds his little girl on his shoulder; she has big, wet black eyes, like the eyes in a drawing by Laurencin. He strokes her hair—the hair of his individual little girl, a French child, precious, rare.

"The French birth rate is stable, the small family is the rule. The family is the basis of society. One has the number of children that one can support and educate.'

* * *

"Demographically speaking, the French are a dying race. There are 42,000,000 French and 80,000,000 Germans. The Third Reich needs room for its growing population."

"Make room, little father, make room!" Nobody smiles, nobody sings. "What! No Tipperary? No Madelon?"

A woman in black holds her son in her arms. Tears flow down her face. His lip trembles slightly. The women of Sparta exposed their weakling children to the elements. They sent them into battle with the cry, "Return with your sword or on it!"

But Homer, whose name is given to the age of heroes, was blind.

"Man for man the French army is the best in the world."

The boy is nine years old. He stands apart, while his father and mother say something to each other, swift and low. He wears his Sunday suit. He cries bitterly but without noise.

"Nazi youth do not weep."

* * *

The whistle blows. The officer holds his girl's cheek to his. The soldier kisses his girl on the mouth. Just once more!

Nobody watches any one else. No one pretends. No one is pretending anything.

"Kill a Boche for me, darling." Didn't they say in the last war?

No one says a word about Boche or killing. Not a word. Not a flag. Not a salute . . . not an au revoir. They pull apart, and the men crowd into the cars. They wear good woolen uniforms and good thick boots.

They look through the open windows—a thousand faces, a thousand different faces, not one like another, not one common expression, not one replaceable face. Now, at last, they smile, kindly, comfortingly, understandingly. The women and the girls stand together, but each alone, each surrounded by a little space of loneliness and separateness, each alone in her tears.

No one calls "Vive la France!"

There goes France.

SERIAL STORY

BET ON LOVE

BY CHARLES B. PARMER

COPYRIGHT, 1940. NEA SERVICE, INC.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

SHERRY BOND — society girl owner of race horse, Pepper Boy.

PAUL WHARTON — a rival owner, determined to teach Sherry that racing is not a woman's game.

SHEP GRANT—young gentleman rider.

WILLIE BOND — Sherry's uncle, a turf "adviser."

* * *

Yesterday: Willie Bond and Ted tell Sherry of their plans to be married after the Derby. A gambler calls on Sherry, offers her $5000 to keep Pepper Boy out of the race. Sherry refuses angrily, orders him out. Sherry drives down to borrow money on her car.

CHAPTER XVI

Sherry said nothing of the $700 loan made on her motor car to Willie and Ted, for the less those love-birds knew of her worries the better.

Willie announced at Sunday lunch: "Red Soldier went the mile and a quarter Derby route in 2:04 this morning—that's fast! Lawrin won it in 2:04 4/5 in 1938—Johnstown had to step it in 2:03 3/5 to win from Challedon last year. Don't you think Pepper Boy ought to be speeded up a bit?"

"I do not!" Sherry answered positively, buttering a bit of toast. "I'm not going to leave his race on the track in a workout; he's going to run his fastest in the Derby—not before. Tomorrow he's going the route—but under wraps."

* * *

While Pepper Boy was being saddled, shortly after dawn the next morning, a familiar lanky figure hove in view.

"Shep Grant!" Sherry exclaimed. "Why aren't you working out Monitor?"

"Haven't you heard the news?" he asked glumly, hands in pocket. "He's out of the Derby. Picked up a stone while working out yesterday—came limping back to the stable. Leg's big as an elephant's this morning."

"Shep, I'm sorry—I truly am!"

He smiled wryly. "Maybe it's poetic justice—for buying him to beat your colt."

"Forget it, Shep! That's racing."

"I know, but I—I do want to make it up to you, Sherry. Have you engaged Madden to ride Pepper Boy in the Derby?"

"No. Will you take the mount, Shep? I wish you would!"

"Will I? You bet I will!"

A great load slid off Sherry's shoulders; at last she had the right jockey for her colt; a rider who could make the weight without adding lead—and as keen a judge of pace as there was on the track. Even Poul admitted that.

"Suppose you take him out now, Shep. I want him to go the Derby route in two minutes, six seconds."

"Righto!"

Sherry went to the finish line, where a group of clockers were gathered. One humped, grayish fellow asked: "You working the colt this morning, Miss Bond?"

"Yes—the Derby route—with Derby weight up." She knew that Shep and the exercise saddle would scale 126 pounds.

"We'll catch him for you, Miss bond. See you got Mr. Grant on him. He going to ride Saturday?"

She nodded. "Thanks, Miss Bond." She knew that by midday the word would be wired to the sporting section of every paper in the country.

"There he goes!" someone shouted. There were a dozen clicks simultaneously as the clockers started the split-second hands on their stop-watches.

"First quarter in .24 2/5—he's holding him down!" someone called out.

"The half in .49 1/5 . . . the three-quarters in 1:14 1/5 . . . the mile, 1:40 flat . . . mile and an eighth, 1:53." Pepper Boy was coming down the last furlong; Sherry saw that he was moving easily, Shep holding a tight rein.

Click!

The horse swept under the wire. Watches were consulted. "The Derby route in 2:06 flat—under wraps," the older clocker announced, judicially, as he pocketed his watch. "You got a good colt, Miss Bond. He'll cause Red Soldier plenty trouble Saturday. Yes, ma'am."

* * *

Two days later the track manager spoke, as Sherry crossed the Clubhouse lawn. "Miss Bond, we are mighty glad to have you racing on our track."

Sherry was puzzled by the sudden cordiality. "Why, I—I'm glad to be here."

He smiled knowingly. "We're mighty glad to have honorable folk race here. You see, we know a certain outfit tried to bribe you to scratch Pepper Boy. We know you threw him out of your tackroom."

"Why—how did you know that? I haven't told a soul."

"We keep an ear to the ground, Miss Bond. Every Derby colt is guarded by us—from the split-second he puts four hoofs on Churchill Downs. You'll have no more trouble."

She smiled with relief as he walked away. She had wondered, what if someone tries to hurt my colt? Now she knew he was safe.

* * *

Tension at the track grew tighter as Derby Day approached. Visitors were pouring into the city, overflowing, to the track to see their favorites.

Friday morning, Sherry, with Uncle Willie on one side, Ted on the other, was first at the secretary's office as it opened to receive Derby entries

OPERETTA WILL BE PRESENTED

Lakeside - Central Pupils Plan Performance of "Pinocchio"

The Lakeside-Central schools will present the delightful operetta, "Pinocchio," by Paynter-Grant-Schaefer on Friday, May 17, at 7:30 p. m.

Everyone who sees the operetta will be entertained with the story. Because the production has proved exceptionally popular, all are urged to purchase tickets early. Tickets are now on sale.

Parents, sisters, brothers and all will enjoy following Pinocchio through his seven adventures portrayed in the operetta of three acts with settings in Geppetto's workshop and at the Grand Theatre of the Marionettes.

Pinocchio's life begins in the workshop of Geppetto. Master Cherry enters carrying a large stick of wood which suddenly jumps from his arms. Geppetto carves a puppet of it and it actually moves, rolls its eyes and laughs at him. Other puppets witness the scene to the tune of dancing and singing. Pinocchio is a good puppet at times, but again he is disobedient. Adventures with animals, with fairies, in the Country of Playthings and with the huge Dog-Fish furnish difficult experiences for Pinocchio. Tired and weary finally, the puppet and Geppetto return to their old home. Pinocchio resolves to return to school and make a real boy of himself.

The leads of the operetta are:

Geppetta, Larry Musser.
Master Cherry, Gordon Brock.
Pinocchio, David Watson.
Talking Cricket, Jean Smith.
Harlequin, Charles Lundstrom.
Crow, Gerry Williams.
Owl, Billy Eck.
Black Rabbits, James Nelson, Jack Jessick, Lael Richards, Gary Luce.

LAKE FISHING BEGINS MAY 15

Trout Fishermen Report Success In Early Weeks

Despite high water conditions, trout fishermen have reported excellent success on fishing trips in the first two weeks of the season.

Inland lakes will open Wednesday, May 15, for all but black bass. Lakes designated as bass lakes will be closed until June 25, when the bass season opens.

Indian Lake, classified as a pike lake, will be open for fishing beginning Wednesday and it is expected the opening day will find many enthusiastic fishermen trying their luck.

In the meantime, non-trout fishermen have been doing their early-season fishing in the bays of Lake Michigan, particularly at Van's Harbor and Garden Bay. The perch fishing there has been good and fishermen are permitted 50 perch from those waters, compared with the legal limit of 25 from inland lakes. Fishermen do not need a state license to fish in waters of the Great Lakes, although such a license is required for trout fishing in the rivers or streams or for inland lake fishing.

Social

Royal Neighbors

Mayflower Camp, R. N. A., held their regular business meeting Thursday evening, May 9 in the I. O. O. F. hall.

Plans were made for the annual district convention to be held in Trout Lake in June. Recorder Gertrude Stephens presented her resignation and Mrs. Merle Archey was elected to the office. Supreme Oracle Grace McCurdy appointed Mrs. Gertrude Stephens District Deputy, effective May 29. Mrs. Stephens will instruct in the ritualistic work and promote the growth and prosperity of the Camps.

The next meeting, May 23, will be a social meeting with Mrs. Virginia Foye and Mrs. Vivian Willfong as hostesses.

WPA "Open House" Planned Here In Week Of May 20-25

Each WPA project of the Professional and Service division will hold an open house throughout the week of May 20-25.

With the slogan "This work pays your community" as a watchword WPA supervisors cooperating with the units sponsoring the various projects invite the general public to visit these projects throughout the week.

The sewing, recreation, library, education, and hot lunch projects will operate as usual during the week.

On May 20 there will be held a sponsors dinner at the different projects.

Misinformation of the program by a great deal of the public may be clarified by personal visits to the various projects operating throughout the county. People are urged to visit these projects where they may see the project in operation and ask questions regarding its operation.

Abner Larned, state WPA administrator, announced that the primary purpose of open house was to give due credit to the sponsors and workers who are concerned with the success of the WPA program, and clarify misinformation by visiting the projects.

PLAY CENTER IS A SUCCESS

Recreation Leaders Care for Pre-School Children

The pre-school center at the local WPA recreation building at 14th and Michigan has proven very successful, it is reported.

Starting on June 1 the play center will be conducted at the school playground on South Tenth street. This will allow the children to play out-of-doors. Shelter will be provided in the event of inclement weather.

Individual sand boxes have been prepared and planted by the children.

All parents so desiring may bring their children to the play center at any time.

Special Devotions Close This Morning

Forty Hours Devotion which opened at All Saints' Catholic church Sunday morning at the high mass will come to a close at the 7:30 o'clock mass this morning.

The devotion, which was in honor of Our Lord in the Holy Eucharist, was well attended at the masses and evening services.

A procession will mark the closing service at the mass this morning.

Reservations For Banquet End Sunday

Reservations for the Mother-Daughter banquet to be held at the Methodist church on the evening of Tuesday, May 21, should be made by Sunday, May 19, it was announced yesterday by Rev. Ivan O. Gonser, pastor. Persons desiring reservations may phone the parsonage, No. 96.

Students Prepare For Final Exams

Students of the Gladstone junior and senior high schools are now starting review of the past year's studies in preparation for the final exams which begin on May 31, it was learned yesterday from Prin. C. C. Strickland.

Motion Pictures To Be Shown At School

A program of motion pictures will be presented today at Gladstone high school. Included for presentation will be a full length feature film and three shorts. One of the shorts will touch on football, another on animals of a famous zoo while the last will be a comic.

Seek Permission To Dredge Lakes

Lansing, May 12—Closely following resumption of navigation on the Great Lakes are applications to the lands division of the conservation department for permission to dredge sand and gravel from Great Lakes bottoms.

Bottom material on inland lakes and streams is the property of riparian owners, but the bottom under Great Lakes waters within the boundaries of Michigan is held in trust by the state. Operators on the Great Lakes pay five cents a cubic yard for fill material, 10 cents a yard for construction sand, and 12 to 16 cents a yard for gravel, depending on the length of the haul to market.

State royalties from such dredging operations in the Great Lakes and St. Clair Flats exceed $15,000 a year. In the booming 1920's this income was much greater.

Ordinary leases provide dredging craft may not work closer than 1,000 feet from shore, though arrangements are sometimes made with riparian owners permitting operation nearer the shore.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.' 5-13

COUNTY MEA TO MEET TONIGHT

Annual Election, Social Will Be Features of Program

The Delta County Unit of the Michigan Education association will hold its annual meeting tonight at 8 o'clock in the assembly room of Gladstone high school, it is announced by Russell Skellenger, president.

Highlighting the program will be the election of officers for the year 1940-41.

Another feature of the program will be a report on the state convention of the Michigan Education association by C. P. Titus, county commissioner of schools, who attended the sessions as the delegate of the county unit.

Showing of motion pictures, dancing and serving of refreshments will bring the evening to a close.

Refreshments will be prepared and served by members of the Senior Girls league.

Fish Law Violators Nabbed by Officers

Spearing suckers in a closed stream Sunday cost two Cornell men $9.50 each upon their arraignment before Justice of Peace Alger street. The pair, Curtis Way and Burns Way, were arrested by Conservation Officer Allan Tweedy of Rapid River while spearing in Bill's Creek, designated as a trout stream.

William Rodgers of Nahma was also hailed before Justice Strom and pleaded guilty to a charge of transporting fish in containers not properly marked. The boxes were marked as containing suckers and when opened were found to be filled with perch. Rodgers paid $25 and costs of prosecution. The arrest was made by Conservation Officer Herb Lennon of St. Jacques.

America's Progress Portrayed by Film

America's progress from Colony Days to the present was graphically portrayed in a sound movie presented before the Gladstone Rotary club yesterday noon by Prin. C. C. Strickland and Foster Benjamin of Gladstone high school.

The film tended to show the part played in our development through the medium of print, both word and picture.

A new sound film projector recently acquired by Gladstone high school through proceeds from sales campaigns conducted by students was used in the presentation.

Miss Beverly Cowen, student at Northern State Teachers' college, Marquette, spent the week-end visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Cowen.

I want to see the new NYLON HOSIERY that will go on sale Wednesday!

Bichler, William Blake, Ed Boyle, Peter Burkard, Stephen Carriere, Chas. M. Fox, Peter Gagner, Clinton E. Groos, Arthur Lauzon, John Noblet, Peter Villeneuve, Dwyer Mackin and Ed Rose.

All members of the committee should be on hand for the dinner for important business is to be discussed, Chairman Henne announces.

Social

Birthday Party

Andrew Erickson was pleasantly honored at a surprise birthday party held on Sunday afternoon at his home, 607 North 7th street, on the occasion of his 70th birthday anniversary. Seventy - five guests were present.

A pleasant social afternoon was spent and a program, consisting of vocal selections by Mrs. Erick Nelson, readings by Carl Kallerson and Mrs. Ed Jackson, and a talk by Rev. N. J. Hedstrom, was presented. A delicious luncheon was served at the close of the afternoon. Mr. Erickson was presented with a gift in remembrance of the occasion.

Party arrangements were made by the Mesdames Albert Buckman, Ray Strand, Gust Erickson, and Miss Hilda Erickson.

Out-of-town guests present were Mrs. Erick Nelson and Mrs. Fritz Wohl of Iron Mountain, Mr. and Mrs. John Lindstrom and son Gunnar of Manistique, and Mr. and Mrs. George Frederickson of Ironwood.

Miss Marie Bredahl of Leslie, Mich., spent the week-end visiting at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Bredahl and with her grandmother, Mrs. Marie Johnson.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our son Marvin who passed away May 14, 1939.

The sun and moon are shining
On a lonely silent grave,
Beneath lies one we dearly loved
But whom we could not save.

Time may ease the sorrowing hearts,
Time may make the wounds less sore
But time can never stop the longing
For our precious baby gone before.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING INFORMATION

Errors in advertisements should be reported immediately. The Daily Press will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion.

All ads are restricted to their proper classification and to the regular Daily Press style of type. The publishers reserve the right to edit or reject any classified advertising copy.

Advertising ordered for irregular insertions takes the one time rate. No ad is taken for less than a basis of three lines. Count six average words to the line. An average word contains six letters.

Accounts unpaid after 20 days will not be granted further credit.

Charged ads will be received by telephone and if paid at the Daily Press office within six days from the first day of insertion cash rates will be allowed.

Ads ordered for three or six times and stopped before expiration will be charged for only the number of times the ad appeared and adjustment made at the rate earned.

The Daily Press makes an earnest effort to keep its advertising columns free of deceptive and dishonest announcements. Readers are requested to report unsatisfactory dealings with any advertiser in these columns.

PLEASE DO NOT ask for information on blind ads. The Daily Press will not disclose the identity of any box number or give any information not contained in the ad itself. A flat charge of 10c will be made for each box number issued.

Combinations Won't Click For Cellar Pirates

EVEN FRISCH'S TRADES FIZZLE

Invisible Battery Fails and Team Has Won 5 Games In 18

Pittsburgh, May 14 (AP)—Nothing works for Frankie Frisch and his last-place Pirates.

Fordham Frankie has tried almost everything except hiring a magician to find a winning combination. Of 18 games the Pirates have won five.

Most of the trades have flopped, or nearly so—the crowning blow coming in failure of the "invisible $150,000 battery"—Pitcher John Gee and Catcher Ray Mueller. Cash paid for these two, plus the half dozen players thrown in with the deals, reputedly adds up to that figure. Both are back in the minors now on option.

No Pirate team has worked any harder in spring training than this 1940 entry in the National League race. Since the season started, Frisch has gone the limit in experimenting. In one game he used 24 men—a league record.

Boys Still Hustling

He's been forced to use four or five pitchers several times, and he has swapped outfield faces about every other day.

The recruits, except Gee—whose bad arm kept him out—have been given their chance. Of the lot, Frank Gustine, second baseman, looks best to measure up to a regular job. In eleven games he has batted .372.

The graying Frisch admits it seems useless to lose sleep over his current aggregation.

"No purpose can be served in criticism of these players," he said today. "I am convinced some of them cannot deliver but nobody can say they are not hustling."

So, evidently, Frankie is figuring on more changes to make a success out of the job he took from Pie Traynor.

Nobody could blame him as he took on a philosophical mood which could be freely translated as saying aloud:

"Hey Pie—how did you ever get that club into the first division?"

New Organization Is Incorporated By Fish Producers

Grand Haven, Mich. (AP)—Completion of plans for organization of the Michigan Fish Producers Association, an organization which has as its aim solution of commercial fishing problems, was announced today by Claude Ver Duin, of Grand Haven, secretary of the Old Lake Michigan Commercial Fishermen's Association.

The new organization has already been incorporated and S. A. Lambert, of Bay City, has been retained as association attorney.

Ver Duin said there would be ten districts in the association, each with its own officers. A meeting of the association board of directors has been scheduled for Frankfort on July 22.

Approximately 80 per cent of the licensed commercial fishermen in the state have indicated they will join the new association, Ver Duin said.

LOWLY AND LONELY

St. Louis—A St. Louis daily paper didn't consider the occasion important enough to send a correspondent to Detroit to cover the Browns' opening game.

SCHWARTZ GETS RAISE

Palo Alto, Calif—Marchy Schwartz will get $4600 a year as Clark Shaughnessy's assistant at Stanford, which is more than he got as head coach at Creighton.

Ishpeming Holds 1941 Bowling Tournament

Ishpeming will be host to the thirty-fourth annual Upper Peninsula Bowling association tournament in 1941.

Votes cast in the recent tournament held in Escanaba were counted at a meeting of the U. P. association here Sunday with the following results:

Ishpeming—676.
Negaunee—674.
Iron Mountain—553.

There were two spoiled ballots and two blanks.

Undoubtedly, it was the narrowest race for the honor of entertaining the U. P. tournament ever waged in the association's history. There was a total of 1,978 possible votes in the recent record-breaking pin meet and, out of that number, 1,907 were cast.

Frederickson Elected President

As is customary, the 1940-41 officers reside in the tournament city. Dr. N. C. Frederickson was chosen president, Claude H. Tripp, vice president, and Walter E. Johnson, secretary-treasurer.

One of the major amendments adopted at the meeting included raising the average limit for the teams entering the booster division to 800 and, in addition, teams entering this section will be ineligible for prizes in the regular division. Previously teams with averages of 775 or less could enter the booster event and still be eligible for team prizes in the regular section. Season's averages to February 1 will apply in determining all bowlers' entries.

Association members present at the gathering included: John H. Mlinar, Marquette; Carl J. Sawyer and Earl H. Raiche, Escanaba; Russell Brault, Manistique; T. O. Manes, Iron Mountain; Sec. J. Violetta, Negaunee; Walter VanDeWeghe, Gladstone; Walter Johnson, Ishpeming, and W. W. Hubbell, Marinette. Sawyer served as president this past year and Raiche was secretary-treasurer.

All members of advisory committee re-elected with the following exceptions:

Carl J. Sawyer to succeed C. J. Driscoll, representing Escanaba. Don Emblom to succeed Walter E. Johnson, representing Ishpeming. Walter H. Leiser elected to committee to represent Ontonagon.

Tournament committee wil consists of A. M. Bowerman, Munising. C. J. Sawyer, Escanaba, T. O. Manes, Iron Mountain, John H. Milnar, Marquette and Walter Van De Weghe, Glaadstone.

Motion was passed to permit bowlers from the border-line city of Ashland, Wis., to participate in the U. P. tournament.

Date for the pre-tournament meeting was set for the last Sunday in October.

SPILLING the DOPE

BY JOHNNY INKSLINGER

TRACK WAS THE ORDER of the day Saturday as 14 schools in Escanaba's vicinity competed in three meets, one at Manistique, one at Rock and one at Powers . . . some exceptionally good marks were made considering the fact that it was the first meet of the season . . . in comparing records, we find that athletes at Manistique had best times and distances in six events, those at Rock excelled in two and Powers one . . . the pole vault was tied between Barron of Escanaba and Sutela of Rock . . . considering the fact that the class B schools were at Manistique, performances at Rock and Powers, where most schools were in class D, were very good . . . it is interesting to note that the Manistique meet lagged in the field events.

Remember folks, the bigger the summer vacation, the harder the fall.

WE ATTENDED the meet at Rock, where Leo Brunelle was referee, and it was one of the most interesting track meets we have ever seen . . . finishes in the running events were exceptionally close and there wasn't a single unpleasant incident to mar a perfect meet . . . Nahma had tremendous power in the track events and held a 29-24 lead over Rock but the Little Giants, riding on the lanky frame of their ace field man, Aaro Sutela, piled up points heavily in the field events . . . Sutela won the broad jump and shot events with only one try at both . . . his broad jump mark was a new record as were his marks in the high jump and pole vault events . . . two of his marks would have won at Manistique and the third would have taken a tie.

If a man still has his appendix and tonsils, chances are he is a doctor.

WE WERE PLEASED at the performance of big George Shomin, Eskymo sophomore, who captured four first places at Manistique . . . we were not so much interested in his four firsts as in his time in the high hurdles of off :16.9 . . . just a week ago Shomin ran the hurdles for the first time and did them in :19.5 . . . at that time, we predicted he would get down near 16 seconds if he worked hard all year . . . little did we realize that he would knock off almost three seconds in one week . . . he knocked his low hurdle mark from 27 to 26.1, a matter of one and two tenths seconds . . . from now on the work is going to be harder, especially in the highs where the distance is short . . . Shomin will have to concentrate on a faster start and less clearance of the barriers . . . with the right amount of work, George should be within hailing distance of Cliff Liberty's :15.9 by the end of track season.

DARKNESS ENDS RED-CARD TILT

Teams Start Late, Then Battle 14-Innings to 8 and 8 Tie

Cincinnati, May 3. (AP)—Starting late because no umpires had been assigned to the game, the Reds and the Cards battled to a 14-inning 8 to 8 tie today before darkness cut short a St. Louis hitting attack featuring three home runs by Johnny Mize and one by Joe Orengo.

Four Cardinal hurlers and five Cincinnati pitchers took part in the 27-hit marathon which, delayed 29 minutes until Umpire Larry Goetz could be called from a day off at home, continued 3 hours and 35 minutes.

Mize clouted his first homer in the second and a two-run blow in the third off Johnny Vander Meer, on the mound for the first time this year. He hit his third—and ninth of the season—off relief hurler Milt Shoffner in the thirteenth to give his mates a momentary advantage.

The Reds came back in their half with a pinch-hit double and a single, to tie the game in its final knot.

Werber's four doubles tied a modern major league record held by himself and 16 others.

No Welcome Home

Home Run Fences Asked By Richter

The paying customers like to see a home run now and then, is Councilman Carl Richter's idea of it and on permission of the city council last night he is going to see to it that there will be a few of them at the Twenty Third street ball diamond this summer.

The council said it would be all right for him to arrange to have the right and left field fences moved in 50 feet. That will shorten the center field about 75 feet.

There hasn't been a home run in the park in years, Mr. Richter said. And that kills interest in the game.

New Dam And Lake In Iron County

Crystal Falls, Mich.—The Wisconsin-Michigan Power company is planning to begin work soon on a storage dam on the Michigamme River at a point five miles northeast of here, and county approval has been given to the project.

Building of the dam will cost in the neighborhood of $330,000, exclusive of land purchases, and employ several hundred men for most of the next twelve months. A topographic survey shows that the river basin near Michigamme Falls is suitable for water storage purposes. Eventually a new lake will be created with a length of five miles on the river and a breadth of twelve miles from east to west, flooding about 15,000 acres.

The SEC cannot make a gilt-edged security out of wallpaper, but if the gold is there, it will not destroy a particle of it.

RAINBOW LOOP READY TO GO

Schedule Arranged for Four Teams Starting On May 30

Munising, May 13—Representatives from the Manistique, Escanaba, Gladstone and Munising baseball nines ironed out final plans for the start of play on May 30 in the Michigan Rainbow league at a meeting here on Sunday afternoon in the Legion County club. By-laws of the league were approved, the schedule for the season was drawn up and commissioners for the league were chosen at the meeting.

ESCANABA PRACTICES

Workouts for the Escanaba baseball team, entrant in the Rainbow league, will start tonight, and will be held twice weekly on Tuesday and Thursday nights, the management announced last night. Practices will be at the 23rd street diamond.

Isaac Schram, a commissioner of the league; George Williams, manager of the Escanaba baseball nine; and Emile L'Heureux, secretary-treasurer of the league, all of Escanaba; Norman Brown, manager of the Manistique entry; Jimmy Hoholik and Vern Noe of Manistique; George Mathison of Gladstone and Manager Theron "Rip" Malone of the Munising squad and William "Bing" Miller, Munising, president of the league, were in attendance at the Sunday session.

Isaac Schram, William DeHutt of Manistique, John Mathy of Gladstone and Ernest Koehn of Munising were chosen as commissioners for the league.

Members of the league this year will be the same four squads who competed last year. An application was received from Germfask for entry of their squad at an earlier date and another Escanaba nine also sought admittance. The two Escanaba crews have consolidated, however, and the application of the second team was eliminated. The league members decided that the clubs having squads in the league must have populations of about 5,000 persons thus ending the possibility of Germfask's entry and the likelihood that Gwinn and North Lake would enter the league. Six cities will probably be members of the league in 1941 the officers said here yesterday since they had all ready received assurances that Marquette and Negaunee would seriously consider entry next season.

This year's schedule follows:

May 30—Munising at Escanaba; Manistique at Gladstone.
June 2—Munising at Manistique; Escanaba at Gladstone.
June 9—Gladstone at Munising; Manistique at Escanaba.
June 16—Manistique at Munising; Gladstone at Escanaba.
June 23—Munising at Gladstone; Escanaba at Manistique.
June 30—Escanaba at Munising; Gladstone at Manistique.
July 4—Gladstone at Munising; Manistique at Escanaba.
July 7—Munising at Manistique; Escanaba at Gladstone.
July 14—Munising at Escanaba; Manistique at Gladstone.
July 28—Munising at Gladstone; Escanaba at Manistique.
August 4—Escanaba at Munising; Gladstone at Manistique.
August 11—Gladstone at Munising; Manistique at Escanaba.
August 18—Munising at Manistique; Escanaba at Gladstone.
August 25—Munising at Escanaba; Manistique at Gladstone.
September 1 — Manistique at Munising; Gladstone at Escanaba.
September 2 — Munising at Gladstone; Escanaba at Manistique.
September 9 — Escanaba at Munising; Gladstone at Manistique.

Batting Exhibition Led By Durocher Trips Phils, 6 to 3

Brooklyn, May 13. (AP)—Effective relief pitching by Lefty Vito Tamulis and a boisterous batting exhibition led by Manager Leo Durocher with four hits brought the Brooklyn Dodgers a 6 to 3 triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies today in the deciding contest of their three-game series.

The Dodgers punched out 11 hits off Ike Pearson and took charge of the game in the last of the fifth with three runs on Durocher's double, a walk, Dixie Walker's single and Babe Phelps' triple. They had tallied once in the first on a double by Charley Gilbert and a single by Walker and added runs in the sixth and eighth.

Score by innings:

Brooklyn	0	0	1	0	0	3	1	0	1x	6 11 2

Gehringer has played 15 years with the Tigers and is now in his 17th year of organized baseball.

Midget Races Keeping Speedsters In Cakes

BY HAROLD HARRISON

Indianapolis, May 13. (AP)—The race driver of 10 or 12 years ago may look with disdain on the midget automobile races of today but they are providing the "meat on the table" for most of the boys who are tuning motors for this year's 500-mile Memorial Day classic at the Indianapolis Speedway.

Several years ago a circuit of big time races kept drivers busy, but now only one or two events, in addition to Indianapolis, offer enough money for much more than cakes and coffee.

Most drivers race in order to eat. So they've turned to the midgets.

"I've been coming to Indianapolis for three or four years and it costs me about $500 even to live here. Then I collect maybe $200 from the race itself. You can see how I stand.

"I decided I'd do it differently this year so I brought my two midgets with me and I'll race them around here while I'm getting ready for the big race here."

Swanson's first stops on his current midget tour were at Kansas City and St. Louis. His cars finished first and second in both races.

The midget machines of today are far different from those which first were used in such races. Most of them then used outboard motors and looked like pushmobiles with motors. Now they're sleek, streamlined speedsters which can hit 160 miles an hour or more.

CUTS PROMISED DETROIT SQUAD

Two Pitchers Must Be Turned Loose to Observe Rules

Detroit, May 13. (AP)—With the Detroit Tigers idle today, Manager Del Baker spent a good part of the time conferring with Walter Briggs, owner, and Jack Zeller, general manager, on reduction of the squad.

In order to get down to the limit of 25 players allowed under league rules Baker will have to turn two pitchers loose by midnight Wednesday. So far he has given no indication of the men who will go.

The Tigers are expected to open the Washington series tomorrow with the same squad that lost to the Chicago White Sox Sunday. Pete Fox, who injured an ankle Saturday, was unable to work out today and Hank Greenberg was still out of the lineup with a lame back.

Baker has chosen Harold Newhouser to pitch against the Griffmen. Newhouser downed the Yankees on their home grounds in his last start. He also has beaten Washington.

This week's games here will give Detroit fans a chance to see how the Tigers stack up with the eastern teams. After the two-day stand of the Nationals will come the Athletics, the Red Sox and the Yankees.

Powers Spalding Tips H'ville Nine In Thriller, 9-7

Hemansville, Mich., May 13—Two runs in the thirteenth inning broke up a pitching duel here Sunday, Powers-Spalding nipping Hermansville in a thriller by a score of 9-7.

Maves went the route for the losers and the winners used three pitchers, Fezatte, Dubats and Kell, the latter being given credit for the victory.

Hermansville touched the three Twin hurlers for 15 hits but the three were stingy with hits when there were runners on the bases.

Powers made only seven hits but took advantage of the collapse of the Hermansville defense, which committted 10 errors, to win the ball game.

The box score:

Illness To Keep Schwarzkopf Out Of Track Feature

Ann Arbor, Mich., May 13. (AP)—Ralph Schwartzkopf, Western Conference two-mile champion, today was declared out of the University of Michigan's dual track meet with Pittsburgh Saturday and was listed as a doubtful starter in the Big Ten meet May 24 and 25.

Schwarzkopf, slender Wolverine captain who has been ill since May 1 with a streptococcic throat infection, will not leave the university health service until late this week. His physician expressed the opinion that Schwarzkopf would be too weak to run in the conference meet.

The Saginaw athlete established the Big Ten indoor record of nine minutes, 10.7 seconds in his specialty last winter. He also scored a spectacular victory over Taisto Maki, Finnish world record holder, in the Michigan A. A. U. relays.

A senior, he had been expected to lead Michigan to its fourth consecutive Big Ten outdoor title in the meet at Evanston, Ill.

Schwarzkopf's physician said, however, that the runner should be able to regain his strength to compete in the National Collegiate Athletic association meet at Minneapolis, June 21 and 22.

News of the loss of Schwarzkopf was counter-balanced today by the return of ailing J. Kenneth Doherty to his coaching duties. Doherty, out two weeks after a stomach ailment, sat at the edge of the track and directed practice.

Hudlin Is Dropped By Cleveland Crew

Cleveland, May 13. (AP)—The Cleveland Indians today gave Willis Hudlin, 34-year-old right-handed pitcher, his release. As a 10-year man, Hudlin could not be sent to the minors. He is free to join any other major league club.

Hudlin joined the Indians in 1926 after leaving high school. He won nine games last year against 10 defeats, and this season had won two and lost one.

AGED POWERS RESIDENT DEAD

Mrs. Fredericka Carlson Was 90; Funeral Wednesday

Mrs. Fredericka Carlson, 90, of Powers, one of the oldest pioneers of this section of the peninsula, died Sunday afternoon at 12:45 o'clock at St. Joseph's hospital, in Menominee, following a two weeks' illness.

Mrs. Carlson, who had lived in Powers since 1887, was born in Smoland, Sweden, September 19, 1849. After coming to this country she made her home in Escanaba for six years, before moving to Powers.

She is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ernest R. Brukardt, of Menominee, two grandchildren, Melvin and Mary Ellen Brukardt, also of Menominee; and three brothers, Aron Frederickson, of Minneapolis; Amos, of Mohler, Idaho; and Carl who is in Sweden.

The body was brought here to the Anderson Funeral Home and will be in state beginning this afternoon. Services will be held at the funeral home chapel at 3:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, Rev. A. H. Kahrs of Powers officiating, and burial will be in the family lot in Lakeview cemetery.

Negaunee Mayor Heads Republicans

Marquette, Mich.—At a meeting of approximately 80 members of the Marquette county Republican committee in the Legion clubrooms in Ishpeming Saturday night, Bert Agnoli, former mayor of Negaunee, was elected chairman of the county committee to succeed David M. Hackney, of Marquette, resigned.

Mr. Hackney, who has been chairman for the past year, succeeding Herbert Perkins, of Powell township, will continue to serve on the committee as vice chairman. Perkins piloted the county Republicans through the 1938 campaign.

Mr. Agnoli, in the automobile business as Negaunee branch manager of the Twin City Chevrolet, of Ishpeming, has had a long career in public service. In 1919 he joined the police department as poundmaster, was promoted to patrolman and in 1925 was named chief of police.

Served As Mayor

In 1925 he was elected mayor of Negaunee and served for three years. In holding his various posts in Negaunee's government, Agnoli has served under both the Taxpayers and Peoples parties.

Mr. Agnoli also is Marquette county's premier horseman. He has owned a number of horses and has driven them in harness races at Marquette county fairs for many years. For the last few years he has had charge of horse racing on the fair program.

The new chairman is optimistic on the outlook for the Republican party in this district and asserts that "we will leave nothing undone to strengthen the party in Marquette county and to make every effort to get the county back in the GOP column."

During the next few months the county committee will cencentrate its efforts on party organization throughout the county in preparation for the fall campaign.

Mayor Vinning L. Bjork, of Ishpeming, is secretary of the committee, and Mayor L. W. Beigler, of Marquette, is treasurer.

BUSINESS MAN DIES

Negaunee—Phillas Bernard, 79, Negaunee's oldest business man, died at 2:20 this afternoon at the family residence in the Bernard building, 204 Iron street. He had been ill only a few days with pneumonia.

Mr. Bernard was born October 20, 1860, in Canada, and came to the United States in 1884 at the age of 24 years. He located in Ishpeming and two years later moved to Negaunee where he had resided since.

When he came to Negaunee he operated a barber shop about a year in a building on the south side of Iron street. He moved from there to his present shop, which he operated until his illness.

September 20, 1887, he married Agnes Gauthier, daughter of a pioneer family of Negaunee, in St. Paul's church. She was born in the family residence on the site of the Bernard building.

The Pleasant Way to Correct Constipation

Why let yourself in for all the discomfort of constipation—and then have to take an emergency medicine—if you can avoid both by getting at the cause of the trouble?

If your difficulty, like that of millions, is due to lack of "bulk" in the diet, the "better way" is to eat Kellogg's All-Bran. This crunchy toasted cereal—a natural food, not a medicine—has just the "bulk" you need. If you eat it every day, it will help you not only to get regular but to keep regular, month after month, by the pleasantest means you ever knew!

Eat All-Bran often, drink plenty of water, and "Join the Regulars." Made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer. If your condition is chronic, it is wise to consult a physician.

Munising Has 435 Increase In Population

The city of Munising shows an increase in population of 435 persons over the 1930 figure, according to information received yesterday from John C. Daly, supervisor of census.

The 1940 preliminary census figure shows Munising to have a population of 4,391 as compared with 3,956 in 1930.

Driver Bound Over To Circuit Court

Munising, May 13 — Edward Piippo of Forest Lake has been bound over to the June term of Marquette county circuit court on a charge of driving an automobile without furnishing proof of financial responsibility. Bond of $300 was set and Piippo was sent to the county jail there to await the June term of circuit court when he was unable to furnish the bond.

Piippo was convicted of driving while under the influence of liquor and his license was revoked on November 13, 1937, for the offense. He was arrested by state police on January 10, 1940, for driving without an operator's license.

Police checked the office of the secretary of state and found that his license had been revoked. The secretary of state's office then wired state police at Marquette urging that Piippo be arrested for driving without proof of financial responsibility, which is a circuit court offense under state law. Piippo was arrested and brought into Marquette municipal court where he waived examination on the charge and was bound over to circuit court.

A person whose license has been revoked must furnish proof of financial responsibility to the extent of $10,000 of liability insurance and $1,000 of property damage insurance before a new license can be granted at the expiration of the revocation order according to state law.

ARTHUR BEAUDRY

Munising, May 13—Funeral services for Arthur Beaudry, 56 year old Munising resident, will be held on Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock from Sacret Heart church here. The Rev. Fr. O. J. LaMothe, pastor of the church, will officiate. Burial will be made in the Maple Grove cemetery.

Mr. Beaudry died on Saturday evening while crossing the Straits of Mackinac on his way to the University hospital, Ann Arbor.

Survivors include his wife, five sons and five daughters.

Mr. Beaudry, born in Negaunee, had resided here for the past 13 years, coming here from Manistique where he had been employed at the Sven Johnson mortuary for 19 years. He operated on undertaking and upholstelry business here for three years. During the time since then he had been employed as a painter, upholsterer and interior decorator.

The body was returned here and taken to the C. F. Beaulieu Funeral Home on Saturday night to be prepared for burial. Mr. Beaudry was removed to the family residence on West Superior street on Sunday evening. The Rosary will be said by members of the Holy Name society this evening at 8 o'clock at the home.

Mr. Beaudry was a member of the Holy Name society and the Sacred Heart church.

Alger Democratic Convention May 18

NYLON HOSIERY

WILL BE ON SALE

WEDNESDAY

MAY 15th

The Greatest News In Hosiery! Plan To Be Here Wednesday Morning!

HOSIERY Main Floor

THE STORY ABOUT NYLON

WHAT IS NYLON

Nylon is the name of a new synthetic fiber invented by DuPont which is particularly adapted to hosiery use. It really is made from coal, air and water — unbelieveable though it sounds! It's different from rayon or celanese. Nylon fiber is stronger for its thickness than a corresponding fiber of silk, rayon, cotton, linen or wool. It's elastic . . . is less liable to break and returns to its original length after stretching. It's beautiful and blemish-free because being made under precise control, nylon fibers are absolutely uniform. Water or dry cleaning liquids do not injure nylon and it dies much faster than silk, cotton or rayon.

• • •

HOW WILL NYLON WEAR?

Nylon hosiery IS susceptible to runs and snags whatever stories you may have heard to the contrary. Nobody has any way of telling how much longer nylon will wear than silk hosiery because it has not been in use long enough. But what we have found out did convince us that the average pair of nylon will definitely give longer wear. Nylon isn't indestructible . . . you can get runs and snags, but because the nylon yarn is so smooth the chances of catching on things is much smaller. Don't expect the impossible of your nylon hosiery because any knitted fabric can be damaged when it is as delicately made and as severely used as hosiery is.

• • •

HOW SHOULD NYLON BE WASHED & CARED FOR?

Nylon absorbs less moisture than silk does, which means that less dirt is likely to be carried into the fiber. Therefore you wash the dirt off rather than out and that washing action may be very gentle. Nylon hosiery retains its original shape after washing thus insuring perfect fit for the life of the stocking. Nylon, like silk hosiery, should not be ironed or hung to dry on hot radiators. While nylon does not melt at normal ironing temperatures, excessive heat will cause brittleness. Nylon does not blaze when it comes in contact with a flame. Just as is true of ordinary silk hosiery, nylon will give better service if washed in lukewarm suds after each wearing.

• • •

HOW TO BUY NYLON

Foot size is important to the satisfactory fit of nylon hosiery for it means satisfactory wear and trim appearance. The exact shoe size should be considered in proper relation to the stocking size.
